WILSON NOMINATES STOVALL MINISTER FOR SWITZERLAND

Savannah Editor's Name Referred to Foreign Relations Committee, of Which Senator Bacon Is Chairman

ED FORTSON, OF ATLANTA, MAY BE FIRST SECRETARY

President Sends in List of Diplomatic Nominations, Including That of Thomas Nelson Page, for Italian Post

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The nomination of Pleasant A. Stovall, editor of the Savannah Press, for envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to the republic of Switzerland, was sent to the senate this afternoon by President Wilson along with a number of other diplomatic nominations, among them Thomas Nelson Page for Ambassador to Italy.

Mr. Stovall's nomination was referred to the foreign relations committee, of which Senator Bacon is chairman. He will expedite its consideration in the committee, and its speedy confirmation is assured.

The Swiss ministership, which carries a salary of $10,000 a year, has been vacant for about a year, since the resignation of Henry Sherman Boutell, of Illinois, who is now serving on the United States court of claims in Washington. The American legation has been in charge of William Walker Smith, first secretary. It is possible that Edward Fortson, of Atlanta, who is an applicant for diplomatic service, may be assigned to Switzerland as first secretary of the legation.

Mr. Stovall's nomination was the second ministership to be passed out by the president, and indicates in a measure the high personal esteem in which the Savannah editor is held by President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan. While it has been known for weeks that he will be sent to Switzerland, as was first exclusively foreshadowed in these dispatches, the nomination was no less an occasion of pleasure to the Georgians in Washington and others to whom Mr. Stovall is personally known.

The slight delay in the nomination was due to the diplomatic formalities occasioned by such appointments. Before the nomination was made it was necessary for the department of state, through Secretary Bryan, to ascertain if Mr. Stovall would be acceptable to the Swiss republic. This formal negotiation, of course, developed what was unofficially known in advance, "that the Savannah editor was persona grata to the government of Switzerland."

HAPPY SELECTION.

It is the belief in Washington that the president could make no happier selection for the Switzerland post. The appointment of Mr. Stovall will inspire renewed confidence in the administration among the people of Georgia, to whom the editor is so well known through his service in the state legislature and his record as a publisher.

Mr. Stovall was one of the original Woodrow Wilson men. He was among the very first to get behind the movement to nominate the president. Long before the preconvention campaign was under way, Mr. Stovall was urging Wilson as the most available man for the nomination. When opposition to Wilson developed in Georgia, the president had no more loyal a friend than the Savannah editor. Although the state turned to Underwood, Savannah and Chatham county stood by the president in the primary contest for the Georgia delegates.

The president and Mr. Stovall were boyhood friends in Augusta, and time has only added to this friendship. After Mr. Wilson's nomination at Baltimore and during the early days of the presidential campaign, Mr. Stovall visited the Wilsons at Sea Girt, and was cordially welcomed. He was in conference with the national committee in New York several times before the election, and rendered valuable service

Room Renters' Wants

Cozy, comfortable rooms in a desirable neighborhood are not always found over night. The result is that many roomers are obliged to keep constantly changing their place of abode and are therefore seldom perfectly satisfied with their location.

The result of this unfortunate condition is unrest and worry that is not conducive to keeping one's mind on one's work and a great deal of energy is lost.

The Journal Want Ads are full of advertisements of desirable rooms, which make the finding of a good location a not difficult matter. In fact, the experience of many is that they have found a delightful room in a good neighborhood either by reading of such a room being for rent in The Journal Want columns, or by putting a Want Ad for such a room in The Journal."

Alden Smith Charges Labor With Lobbying

U. S. Senator From Michigan Declares Before Probe That Lobby Exists in Washington and That He Approves It

TEMPERANCE PEOPLE HAD LOBBY AT WORK, ALSO

Michigan Senator Declares That the Labor Lobby Resulted in the Passage of the Sundry Civil Bill

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Senator William Alden Smith, of Michigan, declared before the senate lobby investigating committee today that the clause in the sundry civil bill now awaiting President Wilson's signature exempting labor unions and farmers' organizations from prosecution under the Sherman anti-trust law represented the work of a lobby.

"The very bill on the president's desk this morning," he said, "was put through by a lobby of labor organizations. They know there is class legislation in it. Samuel Gompers admitted to me it was class legislation.

"Of course the American Federation of Labor has a lobby here. I don't condemn it. They have a right to be here; so have the sugar people and the others. I think there is a very considerable lobby here; there always will be and I think it is appropriate.

"In everything I have done here I have encountered the lobby. It does not do any harm.

"I encountered it in the Titanic investigation and the Mexican revolution."

Senator Smith added he knew John Norris, of the "newspaper people" had been here for free print paper.

He added that the "temperance people" had maintained a lobby in Washington.

Senator Smith said he approved of the use of influence by presidents. He said that every president since Cleveland had undertaken to influence legislation.

Mercury Climbs Up to 96 Degrees; Hottest in 2 Years

At 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the Thermometer at the weather bureau registered 96 degrees, the highest temperature recorded in Atlanta since June 1911, when it reached 98 degrees.

This has been the hottest day this year, and hotter than any recorded in 1912.

At 2:30 o'clock the mercury had fallen to 95, and gave prospect of going still lower during the afternoon on account of cloudy atmosphere.

Some of the official record breakers for this month were June 4, 1911; June 2, 1898 and June 30, 1896. The mercury then went as high as 98, just what the Windy City and the National Capital had Monday.

The lowest here Monday was 69.

The "hot" spell will continue, with no prospects of any rain or showers.

Washington Officials Say It's Hot and Will Stay Hot

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The heat wave prevailing from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic coast promises to continue for the next forty-eight hours.

Relief may be expected in the middle Atlantic states for which slightly lower temperatures tonight and Wednesday are forecast. Today promised high temperature almost everywhere east of Denver.

CURRENCY REFORM BILL GOES TO HOUSE FRIDAY

Every Effort Made to Avoid Any Move That Would Break Harmony

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The currency reform plan will be presented to the house in an administration bill by Representative Glass, of Virginia, chairman of the house banking and currency committee, on Friday. The bill is now practically complete. President Wilson's message is to be presented to the house Friday and the delay in the introduction of the bill is to permit precedence to the message.

The house met today with Democratic Leader Underwood absent for the first time in many months, but he will be back in time to handle the situation Friday.

Meantime those opposed to currency legislation at this session are conferring over the course to pursue, their particular desire being to avoid any move that would tend to break party harmony. Representative Henry, of Texas, and Representative Neely, of Kansas, pointment of another special committee are urging upon their colleagues apto enquire into the workings of the so-called money trust.

PHYSICIANS PREDICTING WHOOPING COUGH CURE

PARIS, June 17.—Discovery in the near future of a cure for whooping cough was predicted today at the Academy of Science by Dr. Emile Roux, director of the Pasteur institute. Dr. Roux wase merely transmitting the report of Dr. Alfred Conor, bacteriologist of the Belvedere Military hospital, Tunis, where, with the collaberation of Dr. Nicholle, he had prepared a solution containing living whooping cough bacilli which they injected into 122 children suffering from the disease, repeating it every two days. Thirty-seven per cent of the children recovered in less than three weeks, whereas under ordinary treatment the mildest attacks lasted two months.

Dr. Roux, while declaring that the experiments thus far were on too small a scale to make a definite pronouncement, said he believed an effective cure was in sight.

POSTOFFICE PROBES HOLD-UP OF MESSENGER

Railway Mail Clerk Didn't Use Fire Department Phone, Captain Declares

Postoffice inspectors are investigating the alleged robbery and assault of W. S. Ware, a railway mail clerk, by three negroes on Alabama street near fire headquarters on Monday night.

According to Ware he was assaulted by the negroes and robbed of registered mail on his way from the Terminal station to the postoffice. The negroes, he said, fell upon him in front of a dark doorway, bore him to the ground and slashed him on the shoulder and neck.

Ware also said that he telephoned the police from fire headquarters at 10:30 o'clock or soon after he was attacked.

Captain W. F. Coley, of the fire department, said he was on duty at headquarters until 11 o'clock, and that Ware did not call the police from there while he was on duty. Firemen who were on duty after 11 o'clock said that no one called the police from headquarters while they were there.

At the Grady hospital it was said that Ware walked into the hospital and was not brought there in a patrol or ambulance. He exhibited a slight cut on the neck and a small incision in the shoulder. He was discharged from the hospital before 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Following his departure from the hospital, two postoffice inspectors called and made inquiities.

It is customary for mail clerks on their arrival to carry registered mail to the postoffice on wagons except in cases of emergency.

Inspector George M. Sutton said Tuesday afternoon that his inspectors at the time had made no report on the robbery. They were investigating, he said.

CITY LAW THAT EXACTS LIQUOR REPORTS VOID

Supreme Court Says Atlanta Ordinance Violates Interstate Commerce Act

The state supreme court Monday held invalid Atlanta's ordinance, commonly known as the McClelland ordinance, requiring railroads, express companies and other common carriers to furnish the police with lists of liquor shipments delivered by them. The high tribunal pronounced the law, designed by council to aid the police in the prosecution of blind tigers, repugnant to the interstate commerce statutes of the Federal government.

The verdict, in which all justices concurred, was based on that part of the interstate commerce act which makes it unlawful for the agent of any common carrier knowingly to disclose the contents of any shipments. The court held the city ordinances to be directly contrary to that section of the Federal act, and therefore void and unenforceable.

APPLY WITHIN STATE ONLY.

It was intimated clearly that such a law might apply to intrastate shipments where the Federal laws would not avail, but the force of the ordinance was killed utterly by the decision because it was directed against interstate shipments.

The decision supports in toto the contentions of railroad officials, made at the time the McClelland bill was passed at the behest of the police eager to get real information about blind tigers.

Judgment in the superior court was reached through the court of appeals. The test case brought against O. M. Ezell, agent of the Central of Georgia railroad, went to the appellate court from Fulton superior court and was certified to the supreme court on a constitutional question.

McClelland's ordinance required the agents of railroads, express companies and common carriers in Georgia, receiving liquor shipments in quantities of three gallons or over to furnish the police with lists of names of shippers, place of shipments, names of the consignees and the quantity of the cases or barrels.

THE TEST CASE

The case arose on the refusal of O. M. Ezell, Atlanta agent for the Central of Georgia, to furnish that information to Detective T. D. Shaw, of the Atlanta police department. The validity of the ordinance was upheld in Fulton superior court, and Little and Powell, attorneys for the Central went to the court of appeal.

The question as it went before the supreme court involved merely the Federal point. In a short opinion written by Chief Justice Fish, it was held that the city's statute was counter to the federal law as set forth in the amended interstate commerce act.

The head note of the decision summed the case up in this wise:

"That such an ordinance is so far as it relates to interstate shipments therein specified is repugnant to the fi-

U. S. NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR MISSISSIPPI FLOOD

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The supreme court today decided that the federal government was not financially responsible for the flooding of more than 100 plantations on the Mississippi as a result of levee construction. Efforts were made to hold the government responsible for the value of the lands flooded, in all about $7,000,000.

RELIEF FUND FOR MURDERED DEPUTY'S FAMILY NOW TOTALS $505.90 AND IS STILL GROWING

Public Responds Promptly to Call for Assistance for Widow and Six Orphan Children—Policemen and Detectives Subscribe $62.15.

Over $900 Is Owed on Yancey Home—Cause a Most Worthy One, Declare Solicitor Lowry Arnold and Assistant Solicitor J. A. Hynds

Sympathy, broad and substantial, is being accorded by the public to the destitute widow and six orphan children of Special Deputy Sheriff Dave Yancey, who was stabbed to death by a negro Monday afternoon while he was engaged in the discharge of his duty as an officer.

Up to an early hour Tuesday afternoon subscriptions to the fund for the relief of the slain man's family totaled $505.90. Of this amount $62.15 came from policemen and detectives, men who daily take their lives in their hands to protect the lives and property of the public.

These policemen and detectives still have fresh in their minds a number of instances where one of their own number gave up his life in just the way that Dave Yancey did. Every city detective subscribed $1 and the members of the uniformed force followed with amounts ranging from that sum downward. The men of the day and evening watches have not yet had an opportunity to subscribe to the fund. This will be afforded them Tuesday night.

FAMILY WORTHY AND DESERVING.

Lowry Arnold and John A. Hynds, solicitor and assistant solicitor, respectively, in the city criminal court, have subscribed $25. Accompanying their subscription was the following very true and timely letter:

"Atlanta, Ga., June 17, 1913.

"Mr. James R. Gray, Editor Atlanta Journal, City.

"Dear Sir:

"We wish to commend the worthy efforts beingmade by The Journal and the other Atlanta papers in behalf of the widow and children of poor Dave Yancey who was killed yesterday. We knew him intimately for more than eight years and we know that his family is worthy and deserving.

"Few people knew of the struggle that Mr. Yancey had to keep the wolf from his door. His family was large and one of his little girls has been through a terrible and protracted seige of sickness which had practically exhausted all his resources.

"We understand that about $1,000 is still due on the humble little home which his family occupies. We hope the generous public of Atlanta will donate a sufficient amount of money in order that his widow may secure a deed to the home.

"Mr. Yancey was a kind, generous man with sympathy and assistance for every one in distress, and in spite of the bitter struggle to keep his family from want, he was always bright and cheerful.

"He was a brave, courteous and efficient officer, who took his life in his hands time after time, in the discharge of his duties, and since he died in the public service, it is nothing but a simple act of justice to see that his wife and little children are provided for until they can adjust themselves to their new circumstances.

"We are glad to add $25 as our subscription to the fund.

"Yours very truly,

"LOWRY ARNOLD,
"JOHN A. HYNDS."

Walter L. Cowan, of Conley, Ga., the man who holds the mortgage on the Yancey home, Tuesday afternoon telephoned Police Chief Beavers that he wished to subscribe $5 to the relief fund.

Deputy Yancey leaves a widow and six children. The recent illness of two of his children had dissipated his small savings.

The eldest of his children is a girl of fifteen, while the youngest is only six years of age. The widow and the six little children are practically penniless.

Only recently the slain deputy had purchased a cottage on the Jonesboro road and on this he owed $900. It is the hope of Sheriff Mangum that at least enough will be raised through pub-

Fell Four Feet to His Death After Recovering From Fall of 40 Feet

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 17.—On the anniversary of a fall of forty feet, in which he escaped injury, Hugo Walker, a painter, fifty-six years old, was killed yesterday by falling only four feet. During the last fifteen years he has several times had falls of fifteen and twenty-five feet, each time escaping injury. The only times he was injured was when he fell a few feet from a porch roof and suffered a fractured skull and on another occasion tumbling off a fence, when three of his ribs and his jaw were fractured. Yesterday as Walker neared the bottom of the ladder he tripped and fell to the ground breaking his neck.

PLEASANT A. STOVALL,

CITY'S FINANCIAL CONDITION FINE, DECLARES AUDITOR

Comptroller Is Praised—More Help Recommended for Him, Purchasing Agent and Paymaster Are Advocated

CITY AND COUNTY SHOULD CONSOLIDATE GOVTS.

Construction and Sanitary Department Pay Too Much for Forage, Waterworks Accounting Not Up-to-Date

The report of the Audit Company of the South, C. J. Metz, president, on the financial condition and the bookkeeping system of the city of Atlanta, was filed with Mayor Woodward on Tuesday morning. The audit was started six months ago and covers the years 1912, 1911 and 1910.

So far as the city's financial condition goes, the audit shows it to be entirely satisfactory. In addition to having assets that balance its liabilities, the city has a bonding capacity of approximately $6,000,000 under the state constitution.

Commenting on conditions as he has found them, Mr. Metz declared to a Journal reporter that the city's system of checks and balances kept by the comptroller is the best he has ever found. He paid a high compliment to the "good intentions well carried out" of Comptroller Goldsmith and his assistants, saying it is a combination of efficient methods and honest, hard-working men.

SOME SUGGESTIONS.

A number of improvements are suggested in the methods now employed in the comptroller's office, but, as the report says, they are suggestions intended to increase the high degree of efficiency already accomplished and are not intended as criticisms.

With the bookkeeping methods of some of the other departments the report does not deal in quite such flattering terms.

The report recommends that the city and county governments should be consolidated, this being a recommendation similar to that of Herbert R. Sands, the municipal research expert who reviewed the city government some months ago.

Taking up the comptroller's office, the report says the methods should be amplified and simplified. The form of the warrant ledger should be improved. Stubs on the city's check book should be done away with, according to the report, they are unnecessary and the work spent on them might be spent to better advantage in some other way.

The comptroller should not be asked to keep separate accounts of small items such as telephones, lights and insurance, but these should be kept by each department and charged against the operating costs of the departments. Tax digest, sprinkling and street and sewer assessments, now kept by the comptroller's office as well as by the tax office and construction department, should not be required of the comptroller's office. The work, according to the report, is unnecessary. Equally as good checks could be kept with proper controlling accounts.

PURCHASING AGENT.

A purchasing agent is strongly recommended. The chief clerk in the comptroller's office is practically the purchasing agent, says the report, and this is wrong, because he hasn't time to properly look after these duties, because it places the expenditure of money and the auditing of claims in the hands of the same man. Another reason for a purchasing agent is that goods should be checked and inspected upon delivery to the city, which is not now done.

Because of a lack of time, says the report, the comptroller's office has not been able to properly check the disbursement of all payroll accounts, and the report, therefore, recommends a city paymaster and a better method of identifying employes.

In order to make these changes and improvements, says the report, the comptroller's office should have outside help, as it is now pressed for time, having all the work to do now.

Concerning the city treasurer, the report says his books were examined and found to be correct. However, the report calls attention to the wact that personal bonds are accepted by the city for its bank deposits. This a point which Mr. Sands touched on also. The report says the city should get 3 per cent interest on its daily bank balances, instead of two per cent.

Concerning the city tax collector, the report says his books were found to be correct, but it further approves the system of requiring all money paid into the city to be paid to the tax collector, which enables a check to be kept daily.

Concerning the tax office, the report says an up-to-date tax map is needed.

Concerning the city auditor's office, the report says the accounting methods are deficient and should be materially improved.

Concerning the police department, the report says the books are the best kept of any police department the comptroller has ever audited, although they could be improved by simplification and the elimination of useless work.

SANITARY DEPARTMEN.

Concerning the sanitary department, the report says the books are well kept, but that forage costs in the sanitary department are too high, averaging $15 per month per head as compared to $13 in the fire department. The same criticism is made of the construction department in this connection.

Concerning the construction department, the report says the records for 1912 and 1911 were not nearly so well kept as were the records for 1910, although a better start has been made this year. The filing records and arrangement of the office in this department are bad and need correction, says the report. Cost accounts should be kept.

Concerning the waterworks department, the report says the department is well managed, but it recommends

SENATE DEADLOCK MAY HALT INAUGURATION

Race Between Anderson and Allen for Presidency Now Appears Close

If the race for the presidency of the state senate is as close as it now appears to be between Hon. J. Randolph Anderson, of Savannah ,and Judge John T. Allen, of Milledgeville, there is a strong probability of a deadlock and one which might continue for several days.

In such an event there would be a delay in a change of governors. Governor Brown can not retire until his successor is declared and qualified. Governor-elect Slaton can not assume office until the returns from last fall's elections are canvassed and he has been declared elected. And the legislature can not canvass the returns and make these declarations until both houses are formally organized, after which they meet in joint session, declare the result of the elections and appoint committees to arrange for the inauguration.

It has been planned to hold the inauguration of Governor Slaton on Saturday, June 28, three days being allowed for the legislature to organize beforehand. However, with both Mr. Anderson and Judge Allen strongly claiming twenty-five votes each out of a possible forty-four, the probability of a deadlock looms up strong.

In 1905 there was a three-day deadlock in the senate over the election of a president, the candidate at that time being Hon. W. S. West, of Valdosta, and Hon. C. M. Candler, of Decatur. After the third day, with neither in possession of sufficient votes to elect Mr. Candler withdrew in order that there might be no further delay in declaring the elections of a number of state officials and also to prevent an extension of the legislative session which would have been very expensive to the state.

The late Senator Joseph M. Terrell was governor at that time, and he had been elected to succeed himself so that there was no embarrassment to the executive department such as there might be if there is a deadlock this year.

Politicians of sporting proclivities are inclined to back Mr. Anderson for the presidency of the senate, and some of them are willing to bet that he will win on the first ballot. Just what edge if any, he has on Judge Allen is not known.

S. SAUL OWES $35,775.29, WITH ASSETS ONLY $50

S. Saul, a clerk, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy Tuesday. His liabilities are listed at $35,775.29, and his assets at $50. These liabilities consist of claims held mainly by out-of-town concerns against Springer, Samuel & Saul.

This is part of the famous "Three S" bankruptcy case, a pioneer in the bankruptcy court, which involved great and complicated litigation and brought out important rulings in bankruptcy actions.

J. H. Dudley, a switchman, filed a petition in which his liabilities were represented at $229, and his assets as $1,550. William F. Bragg, Jr., filed a petition listing liabilities of $177.52.

STOCK SALE PROMISES MUST BE MADE GOOD

Subscribers to stock corporations will not be required to pay for stock unless the conditions made in the proviso when stock was solicited are complied with.

This was the holding in an opinion handed down Monday in the case of C. O. Dotson versus the Savannah Pure Food Canning company.

Dotson had been sued in the Chatham superior court for $100, the price of two shares of stock, and his defense was based on the ground that the contract had not been complied with. The higher court reversed the decision of the lower court, with the above ruling.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS PICNIC TOGETHER TUESDAY

First Christian and Second Baptist Celebrate Jointly Their Recent Contest

Atlanta's biggest picnic is in progress Tuesday afternoon in Grant Park —the joint picnic of the First Christian and the Second Baptist Sunday schools, celebrating their recent contest in which the First Christian came out winner. It was expected Tuesday morning that perhaps 3,000 members of both schools would attend the affair and enjoy the games and frolics of it and partake of the great spread which both schools were to contribute.

Filled picnic baskets were delivered at the two churches early Tuesday afternoon, and were kept there under guard until later, when big wagons loaned by the Southern Express company, gathered them and conveyed them to the park. Meanwhile the baskets' owners had gone on out on the trolley cars. The big affair was due to begin a. 2:30 o'clock and to continue as long as the revelers wanted to keep up their play in the city park. During the cool hours of the late afternoon the feast was to be spread under the trees.

Committees representing both schools were in charge of the details of the occasion. The executive committees were as follows: First Christian—R. A. Burnett, A. M. Beatty, W. S. Bell, Dr. L. O. Bricker, pastor; Harry A. Jones, J. W. Crenshaw and E. F. Williams. Form the Second Baptist—Dr. John E. White, pastor; John S. Spalding, Frederic J. Paxon, William Hurd Hillyer, W. C. Pavlet and J. I. Day.

Under the direction of this combined committee the various other committees — park, games, music, law and order, badges and baskets, did their own assigned tasks.

Rev. C. A. Ridley ,pastor of Central Baptist church and president of the Atlanta Baptist Minister's association has handed The Journal this personal word regarding Dr. F. B. Riley, of Minneapolis, who is speaking at the Broughton Tabernacle every night this week:

"I am very anxious that all my friends in the city, including the members of my own congregation shall not overlook the fact that Dr. Riley, of Minneapolis is in our city and speaking every night this week at the Tabernacle Baptist church. It is doubtful if there is a more influential Baptist minister in America and I regard it as an opportunity for our people to hear him. Dr. Riley is pastor of the greatest people's church in this country and his messages are full of the tenderness of a great soul."

VITAL STATISTICS LAW TO GET STRONG SUPPORT

Dr. W. C. Bryant, a Leading Advocate, Expects New Measure to Pass

So many members of the forthcoming general assembly have commented favorably upon his suggestion that a vital statistics law be enacted, that Dr. W. C. Bryant, the champion of the movement, feels encouraged to believe that such a law will be written into the statute books at this term of the legislature.

Dr. Bryant has agitated the necessity for such a law before the various medical associations and in the newspapers. His work attracted the attention of Cressy L. Wilbur, chief statistician of the United States census department.

Mr. Wilbur attended the sociological congress in Atlanta last spring and while here he made an investigation of conditions in the state and its towns. After returning to Washington, Mr. Wilbur wrote each member of the state board of health urging them to use their influence in favor of a law requiring the registration of all vital statistics.

Two paragraphs from Mr. Wilbur's letter to these board members follow: "Vital statistics are absolutely necessary as a basis for modern public health work, as well as of great importance for legal and other purposes. The south is rapidly awakening to the necessity of having such data. Kentucky, Maryland and Missouri have already been admitted to the registration area for deaths; the model law is in operation in Virginia (June 14, 1912) and Mississippi (November 1, 1912), and has been adopted this year in Arkansas, North Carolina and Tennessee. I hope that a law of satisfactory character may be adopted for Georgia by the coming legislature.

"The time is short before the session opens, and as its duration is brief, it would seem very desirable, if possible, that all interested in the passage of a good law co-operate in framing a bill and aid in procuring its passage. It should be understood that the model bill is a general draft subject to adaptation to the needs of an individual state. In this connection I shall be very glad to be of any service and also to send you any information relative to the methods that have proved successful in other states."

Dr. Bryant says he hopes to have his bill introduced jointly by the representatives from Fulton county.

The Journal's Great Booklovers' Campaign.

The Rules

1—All persons are eligible to enter this campaign, except employes of The Atlanta Journal and members of their families.

2—Commencing April 6th and each day thereafter for 75 days, The Atlanta Journal will publish a picture which will represent the title of one book.

3—Beneath each picture there will be a blank for the contestants to fill in the name of the book and author, and their own name and address.

4—No restriction will be placed on the way in which answers to these pictures may be secured.

5—Each contestant will have the right to ten answers to each picture, but not more than ten to any one picture.

6—Incorrect answers will not count against contestants, if the correct answer is also given..

7—Only one answer can be placed on each coupon and extra coupons must be used for all extra answers.

8—Each coupon must be accompanied by a prize picture in order that all answers may be uniform.

9—Additional pictures can be secured at The Atlanta Journal office, or by mail from The Journal.

10—It is not obligatory to cut either coupon or picture from The Atlanta Journal, in order to send in answers. An answer may be submitted in any legible manner the contestants may select, provided in every case that a picture is attached to the coupon used in sending in your answers. These pictures can be drawn, copied or photographed by the contestant, just so there is only one answer to each picture and it is the same size as those published in The Atlanta Journal.

11—Each answer must be written on a separate coupon.

12—When you have the complete set of 75 pictures with your answers, fasten them together and bring or mail them to The Atlanta Journal in a neat, flat package, not folded or rolled, and address them to the Booklovers' Campaign Editor.

13—Prizes will be awarded to the contestant having the most correct answers submitted according to our rules.

14—In the event of two or more persons having the same number correct, the person using the smallest number of answers will be declared the winner.

15—In the event of two or more persons having the same number correct and using the same number of answers, the value of the prize will be equally divided among those tying for it.

16—More than one prize will not be awarded to any one family at the same address, but each member of the family can enter the campaign and submit a complete set of answers.

17—Only one complete set (comprising not more than 10 answers to any one picture) of answers can be submitted by any one contestant.

18—Awards will be made strictly according to the merits of each separate set of answers, and all answers will be considered on their merits.

19—The first filed will have no preference over the last filed, provided only that answers to be considered must be filed within the limit specified when the last picture is published.

20—Awards will be made by the Campaign Editor and five well known citizens, whose names will be announced later.

21—The correct answers to the 75 prize pictures will be placed in a sealed package in a safety deposit box in a local bank or trust company, one week previous to the close of the Campaign.

22—Entry to the campaign may be made at any time previous to the closing date, to be announced by The Atlanta Journal.

23—The campaign is open to all residents of the states of Georgia, Alabama, Florida, South Carolina, North Carolina, Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana.

24—The first prize picture will be published on April 6th, and one each day thereafter, making 75 prize pictures in all.

25—The Atlanta Journal reserves the right to decide finally all questions that may arise in connection with the campaign.

26—Solutions will be invalidated if sent in before the 75 prize pictures are published.

27—All communications or letters of inquiry concerning the campaign should be addressed to the Booklovers' Campaign Editor, The Atlanta Journal.

DON'T HOLD DOWN TOO LOW ON ANSWERS

When the prize winning list is announced in any Booklovers' Campaign it never contains the names of those who hold down too low on answers. In the last Journal Booklovers' Campaign, the Grand Prize winner used 554 answers and the winner of the last box of candy used 161 and had 58 correct. If she exercised all her rights to extra answers with the skill she displayed in getting 58 correct on such a low number of answers, there is no good reason why she should not have been away up in the prize winning list. And it is a safe bet that she will exercise all her rights to extra answers in the present campaign and hold down to less than two for each picture.

With the Answer Book giving you the right to ten answers to each picture, you will pay every contestant to secure on each picture, if can find in the catalogue, up to the limit of ten allowed. On those pictures you are sure of, you have a right to hold down to one answer, but unless you are ABSOLUTELY SURE do not eliminate yourself from the prize winning list or get down in the candy class by holding down too low.

When the prize winning list is announced you will know The Journal has been giving you good sound advice all along.

SEGREGATION ORDINANCE IS PASSED BY COUNCIL

Intention of It Is to Separate White and Colored Races in Residence Sections

After delaying action on the Ashley "segregation ordinance" by referring it to a special committee, council Monday afternoon changed its mind later in the session and passed the ordinance, with the condition, however, that a special committee of ten be named by the mayor pro-tem to thoroughly canvass the ordinance and make whatever amendments they considered necessary.

The intent of the ordinance is to separate the white and colored races in residence sections. It was drawn by the city attorney at the instance of Councilman Claude L. Ashley of the fourth ward and is modeled somewhat after a similar ordinance recently enacted in Baltimore, Md. It has been threshed out by two committees of council and by the board of police commissioners. Each time a public hearing was held, negroes appeared in opposition to it.

The ordinance came to council Monday with a favorable report from the police committee. Councilman Ashley strongly urged its passage on the ground that negroes have encroached upon white neighborhoods in the fourth ward until feeling has become acute.

Unexpected opposition developed. Alderman Maddox said he had not had an opportunity to study the ordinance and would rather have more time. Alderman Spratling joined him. On their motion the ordinance was referred.

During this discussion a delegation of negroes sat in council chamber, waiting and watching to see what council would do. When the ordinance was referred they left the hall.

Then Councilman Thomson got busy. Going from one to another of the councilmen who had voted for delay, he persuaded them that the ordinance should be passed. He moved to reconsider, the motion carried, and the ordinance was passed.

FLOODING FINED FOR CONTEMPT OF COURT

Judge Pendleton Debated Jail Sentence, but Finally Chose Lighter Punishment

Only the amiability of Judge John T. Pendleton Monday saved Edward Flooding from spending twenty-four hours in jail for contempt of court. After debating the question brought up on Flooding's failure to comply with two court orders, Judge Pendleton decided to let the defendant off with a fine of $50.

"This is entirely a civil matter," said Judge Pendleton. "It is very difficult for a man to insult me, and I do not take Mr. Flooding's action as personal, but he must be impressed with the fact that the orders of the court must be observed.

"I have debated whether or not to send the defendant to jail for twenty-four hours or fine him, but everything considered, I think a fine will be sufficient punishment."

Governor-elect John M. Slaton appeared for Flooding, but did not address the court. Instead M. A. Hale, counsel on the opposing side, requested that it might be Governor Slaton's last case before he became governor.

"No, he has another before this court before inauguration day," interposed Judge Pendleton. "But I might suggest that Mr. Flooding follow the advice of his lawyer in the future and not attempt to fly in the face of the court's orders."

Floding's contempts arose from his failure to comply with court orders issued in litigation begun in 1910 in which he sought to restrain W. E. Flooding and M. P. Flooding from using the name of the "Flooding Regalia company" in their business. It resulted that Edward Flooding was enjoined and he failed to comply.

HAND MANGLED IN A PLANERY, AMPUTATED

While at work at a planing machine in the plant of the Morrow Transfer company, 134 Elliott street, Tuesday morning, D. S. Dickey, an employe, mangled his hand so badly that it had to be amputated at the Grady hospital, whither he was carried immediately following the accident.

Dickey lives at 161 Currier street. While he was operating the planery, the machinery caught the end of his sleeve, and dragged his left hand against the whirling saws, lacerating it.

ECLECTICS PLAN FIGHT AGAINST NEW MEASURE

A fight on the medical practice bill when it comes up in the legislature was planned at a meeting Monday of the Georgia Electic Medical association.

It was contended that the bill would hurt the eclectic school of medicine and deny practitioners the right to choose which school of medicine they should practice.

Asks Divorce for Choking

Asserting that her husband choked her brutally, merely because she asked him for money, Mrs. Mary Anderson on Monday filed suit in superior court for total divorce from Henry W. Anderson. She asked the court also for temporary and permanent alimony and the custody of her child.

In her bill Mrs. Anderson declared that her husband had accused her wrongfully of sitting on a church step with a young man, and had time and time again humiliated her before her neighbors and friends with his insinuations.

WITH CARTOONIST BREWERTON AT THE FORSYTH

Mrs. Bud Fisher, nee Pauline Welch, and one of the brightest stars on the vaudeville stage, made her debut to an Atlanta audience at the Forsyth Monday for the first time since she became Mrs. Fisher in private life. Miss Welch first met Bud Fisher a year ago when the two appeared at this same theater. They were married soon afterward.

Miss Welch completely captivated Monday night's critical audience. She wears stunning gowns, has a sweet singing voice and a beautiful figure and face. And such a way with her! She appears first in a pink evening wrap with a headdress of the Gaby Deslys order, and then quickly changes to a demure "Quaker maid" effect. Her next change is to a white evening dress, designed to show her beautiful shoulders and arms that would make Miss "September Morn" envious. Her songs are new and just suit her dainty coquettish way.

Bud Fisher, a cartoonist and the creator of "Mutt and Jeff," made his appearance in a motion picture. This was his best work. One thing lies to his credit—he has not yet attained that popular stage idea of being jealous of his wife, for he very proudly brought her back from the scenes to acknowledge his applause.

The Three Leightons smack of Broadway. They are three young men. Two take character parts in an act entitled "A One Night Stand in Minstrelsy." Evidently the best-looking of the trio appears without a character makeup. His voice was fine, and he was assisted ably in singing by one of the others, while the third one danced like "Doc Quigley," of minstrel fame.

Another laugh-producer was a comical woman by the name of Marie Ireland, who appeared with Fred Whitfield in "It's a Humdinger." The title aptly describes this number, which set a hot pace for others to follow in rapid-fire humor.

Adonis and his dog open the bill. The man has a splendid physique and a good act. He should appeal to the girls all right.

Karl Emmy's pets gave about the same old dog act that has been seen many, many times before. But the children at matinees will enjoy it.

The Lawn Party was made up of a crowd of youthful actors, some good, others bad and indifferent. The comedian with his difficult tumble was a star. He is a wonder at falling and skating (without real skates).

Embroidery Prices Clipped in Two

Two Yards for Usual Price of One Throughout the Stock

Stock sheets show we have far too many embroideries. The excess is not in any particular place—so unable to reduce any particular line, the lace chief cuts the Gordion Knot by clipping prices on all the embroideries. Tomorrow, then, choose any embroideries within the price range listed here at just half the usual prices.

Included are ALL flouncings, bands, edgings, galloons, garnitures, festoons and motifs. Materials are voiles, lingeries, aerial cloths and crepes. Bewitchingly embroidered in blind, open, eyelet, shadow and Baby Irish patterns. All widths.

Flouncings were $5 to $13.50 a yard, now at $2.50 to $6.75.

Embroidery Bands were $1.75 to $4.50; now at 88c to $2.25.

Galoons, Festoons, Motifs, etc., were $3.50 to $10; now $1.75 to $5.

(Embroideries, Main Floor Right.)

All Neckwear: Half Price

Please understand that these halved prices include all neckwear formerly priced 50c to $2. The news is so unusual that even our salespeople were puzzled. We almost had to discharge one girl—she insisted upon selling neckwear at its first price of 75c instead of the reduced price of 38c. She just couldn't understand why we should sell neckwear at half price when we could get full price as easily.

But we choose to clear all our neckwear—the fresh new arrivals as well as the old—at half price. Since we choose to do so, it is your good fortune to select from

All 50c neckwear at 25c. All $1 neckwear at 50c.

All 75c neckwear at 38c. All $2 neckwear at $1.

Wonderful Sale of Waists

"Wonderful" in that the styles, materials and workmanship are of the same standard of excellence in waists at much more. Side by side for comparison are our waists and these sale waists—the latter at savings of a third more. Reasons?—chiefly because these sale waists come from makers winding up their season.

$1 Waists 78c

Lingerie and Voile waists, high or low neck; long or short sleeves. Choice of more than half a dozen styles.

$5 Waists $2.95

Not all $5 waists, some worth $4; others $5.95. Average is easily $5. In white crepes, voiles and lingeries.

$7.50 Waists $4.95

Beautiful styles and materials in voiles, lingeries, and crepes. Actual values from $6.50 to $10.

Waists Worth up to $4 at $1.95

Here you can choose from silk shirts, mannish style, with flat, attached collars or turnover, detachable collars. All white and stripes. Also a big lot of white voiles, lingeries, crepes and marquisettes in the approved styles. Actual values $2.50, $3, $3.50 and $4. Choice $1.95.

(Ready-to-Wear, 2nd Floor.)

New Panamas 2.98 & $4.95

Splendid qualities, trig, trim, hand-blocked shapes. Wonderfully attractive for motoring, golfing, riding, walking—pretty, practical, all purpose hats. Choice of half a dozen styles. They have made a great "hit." Partly because of the prices—$2.98 and $4.95—more because of the styles.

STATE CONVENTION MAY PLAN W. & A. FUTURE

Taxpayers Are Concerned Directly in Wise Use of Big Revenue Producer

Governor Joseph M. Brown, who is in Athens attending the state university commencement, when reached by long distance phone Tuesday, said that if public business permits, he will take pleasure in participating in the discussion at the Atlanta chamber of commerce meeting at Taft hall Thursday night at 8 o'clock, relative to the Western and Atlantic railroad.

The other speakers will be W. A. Wimbish, Hooper Alexander, Chairman C. M. Candler, of the state railroad commission, and James R. Gray, editor of The Atlanta Journal. All of these are well posted concerning the state road, and they are in position to offer important and interesting suggestion.

Property owners in Atlanta are concerned in the meeting called by the Atlanta chamber of commerce, to be held in Taft hall Thursday night at 8 o'clock, to consider the question of calling a state convention to discuss the future of the Western and Atlantic railway.

This railroad, which is Georgia's biggest asset, is the one thing that keeps the state tax rate down, and with an advantageous disposition of the property at the expiration of the present lease, it will be possible still further to reduce the burden upon Georgia taxpayers.

It is not proposed at this meeting to take any radical action. Its purpose is simply to decide whether it is advisable at this time to call a state convention composed of the best business thought of Georgia, to offer suggestions as to just what should be done with the property.

The future of the Western and Atlantic railroad is not only the biggest of Georgia's financial problems, but it is highly important to the business interests of the state from the standpoint of its effect upon freight rates. This is one phase of the problem which the legislature must consider and see that the road is so placed that Georgia will preserve every possible advantage in this respect.

There are widely divergent views as to what should be done with the property, and speakers representing various views are being secured for Thursday night's meeting by Chairman W. A. Wimbish. The speeches, however, will be brief and to the point. Every one of the speakers will be a man who has given the problem some thought and study, and who will have something directly to the point to say about it.

In order for the state to be placed in the most advantageous position, it is essential that early legislative action be taken regarding the disposition of this property, following the expiration of the lease in 1919.

President Wimer L. Moore, of the chamber of commerce, will preside, and it is indicated that an interesting and valuable discussion will be held.

COURT IS REVERSED IN MURDER TRIAL

On the ground that the trial judge should have outlined the law on voluntary manslaughter in his charge to the jury, the state supreme court Monday morning reversed the superior court of Lowndes county in the case of Warren Clements, who was convicted of murder and given a life sentence in the penitentiary.

The reversal of the lower court hinged on the testimony of D. H. Harrell, one of the witnesses for the state. Harrell testified that Clements, himself and others went with E. J. Griffin for an automobile ride in the latter's machine.

He said some of the members of the party were drinking and that after proceeding for some distance all dismounted from the car; that while they were congregated about the machine Clements fired a pistol; that Griffin charged him with shooting into the car; that Clements denied this, that neither appeared to be angry, that he looked away and while his eyes were in another direction he heard two shots fired. Looking back he saw both men with pistols.

The supreme court held that on these facts the judge of the lower court should have given an appropriate charge on the law of voluntary manslaughter, and its omission to do so necessitates another trial.

BURGLARS LOOT HOUSE WHILE OCCUPANTS AWAY

On her return to her home at 117 Holderness street Monday afternoon, after an absence of several hours, Mrs. L. C. Hazel found the back door of the house wide open. She reported to the police that some valuable jewelry and heirlooms had been taken.

It was evident that robbers had invaded the house from the rear and helped themselves to all of value that they could find. Pieces of a broken button hook found on the floor bore evidence, it was assumed, of an attempt to pick the lock of a trunk. The effort, however, was not successful.

Among the valuables reported by Mrs. Hazel as having been stolen were a gold watch, cameo pin, bracelet, an old-fashioned cameo pin, a diamond ring and other trinkets that were prized highly.

How to Avoid those Pains and Distress Which so Many Mothers Have Suffered

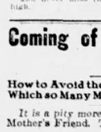
It is a pity many women do not know of Mother's Friend. This remedy softens the muscles, enables them to expand without strain and enables women to go through the ordeal without pain, nausea, morning sickness or other dreaded symptoms so familiar to many mothers.



There is no foolish diet to harass the mind. Thousands of women no longer resign themselves to the thought that sickness and distress are natural. They know better, for in Mother's Friend they have found how easy it is to banish all those dreaded experiences.

It is a subject every woman should be familiar with, and even though she may not require a remedy, she will now and then meet some prospective mother to whom a word in time about Mother's Friend will come as a wonderful blessing. This famous remedy is sold by all druggists, and is only $1.00 a bottle. It is for external use only. Write to-day to the Bradfield Regulator Co., 227 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a most valuable book to expectant mothers.

STRIKING SCENE IN GREAT PICTURE DRAMA

Nero, in the center, realizing that the burning of Rome has stirred the wrath of the people. He accuses Tigellinus of having caused the city to be set aflame. Pitronius, on the right, is shown with a satisfied expression over the discomfiture of his rival in the emperor's favor. This is a scene from "Quo Vadis" which is at the Grand all this week.

Of more than educational and historic value, thrilling in its impressiveness, well nigh stunning in its immensity and wealth of detail, "Quo Vadis," probably the greatest motion picture drama that ever has been produced in Atlanta, gripped an audience at the Grand theatre Monday night which packed the house as only a big play in the height of the winter season has been known to do.

Crowding into every available space that the theatre offered, save a few rows immediately in front of the massive screen, Atlanta folk gazed on the glories of ancient Rome, its magnificence, its rack and ruin, for two and a half hours.

There was little applause. The breathless silence that accompanied every flash and flicker of the reel bespoke the intense interest which held the audience as no storm of hand-clapping could have done. It was a lengthy picture, but not until the last screen had faded from the screen did a single spectator leave the house.

As an absorbing story alone the play is worth the price of admission. But it is something more. To those who are not accustomed to "do" the "movies," who find little pleasure in the average photo play, "Quo Vadis" will be a revelation.

For one thing it is a great religious drama, abounding in scenes which bring the Bible and some of its greatest characters into a living understanding form. Then, too, it is a greater educator than many a tale or history of ancient Rome. The life of the empire, the strength and weakness of those many various classes that formed it; Nero, senile, licentious and cruel; the Christian martyrs who preferred death in the lion's maw to other gods than theirs, they are portrayed to such perfection that the scenes seem to have been taken in the very heart of the Rome of twenty centuries ago.

Those who have read "Quo Vadis," saw again the characters which the words of Sienkiewicz drew for them on paper, live and breath in a picture form which revitualized the story for them. Those who never have read the book were entertained equally by the motion picture play.

It is a wonderful production, and the secret lies in the fact that no pains have been spared to make it so. The veriest antiquary could have found nothing wrong in the costuming, the scenery, every essential detail which was part and parcel of Rome and the Romans.

Such scenes as the Roman mob, the coliseum, the sacrifice of the Christians to the lions, the burning of the city, can have been made only through the greatest expenditure of time and labor.

There are eleven principal characters and a host of minor ones. Peter, the apostle; Nero, Poppaea, Nero's second wife; Tigellinus, a Roman general; Ursus, Lygia's servant; Lygia herself; Petronius; Vinitius, and many others are produced to the very life.

The play is divided into three acts, with intermissions for eight minutes. Act I, Parts 1, 2 and 3, show the story of "Quo Vadis;" Act II, parts 4, 5 and 6, the burning of Rome; Act II, parts 7 and 8, the Christian martyrs.

"Quo Vadis" will be at the Grand all this week, with daily matinees.

NEW DORMITORY FOR THEOLOGICAL SCHOOL

Friends and neighbors of the Atlanta Theological seminary were invited Monday afternoon to join in services at the breaking of the first dirt for the construction of the new dormintory. The services were held at sunset, and all joined in prayer and song.

BOOSTS ISLE OF PALMS AS FINE SUMMER RESORT

E. P. Passailague Comes to Atlanta to Tell of Attractions There

E. P. Passailague, advertising manager for the Isle of Palms Traction company, of Charleston, S. C., was in Atlanta Tuesday on a boosting trip for the Isle of Palms as a summer resort.

He says that $250,000 has been spent there on improvements this year; hotels have been remodeled, and many new features installed at the beach. Dancing is enjoyed every night during the week, with special hops on Tuesday and Friday nights. A military band furnishes the music, giving Sunday concerts.

An hourly car schedule is run from Charleston, and special weekly and week-end rates are provided. New bathing suits make the beach, which is said to be the safest on the Atlantic coast, very attractive. Seven years have gone by with no lives lost there.

W. J. Hanlon is manager of the traction company, and is conducting the Charleston hotel in connection with the Isle of Palms.

POVERTY SITS ON THE THRESHOLD OF THIS LITTLE HOME

Six Former Associates Will Be the Pallbearers

Six former associates in the sheriff's office will carry the body of Dave S. Yancey to its last resting place.

Arrangements for the funeral of the slain officer were made Tuesday morning.

The body will be left in the little home of the Yancey family in Jonesboro road until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning that all his former friends who desire may see him for the last time.

At 10 o'clock the bier will be conveyed to the Forest Park church where services will be said over the remains at 12 o'clock. The body will be laid to rest later in the Forest ark cemetery. The minister for the occasion has not yet been chosen.

Those in charge of the interment are making arrangements for only a modest floral offering in the belief that the money will be better spent in caring for the orphaned family.

Sheriff Wheeler Mangum and the following deputies will be pallbearers: John Owen, Plennie Miner, J. N. Suttles, Lee Haygood and E. T. Stanley.

Negro Who Slew Deputy Dies of Bullet Wounds

Eugene Watson, the negro slayer of Special Deputy Sheriff Dave S. Yancey, died at the Grady hospital about 8 o'clock Monday evening as the result of the bullet wounds which he had received a few hours earlier in his battle with the city police.

Watson was operated on at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and it was then thought that he would live despite his six wounds. Later another operation was found necessary, and the negro died an hour after it was completed. Watson is said by the police to have a long criminal record, and a charge of murder is said to be outstanding against him in another state.

The fund for the family of the deputy is increasing rapidly.

It is stated to the police that the negro stayed his flight to mutilate further the body of his victim after Mr. Yancey lay dead.

WILSON NOMINATES STOVALL MINISTER FOR SWITZERLAND

as a member of the publicity committee.

Mr. Stovall has been always a progressive Democrat in state and national politics. He was a loyal supporter of William Jennings Bryan in his fights for the presidency and in state politics he has always stood squarely beside Senator Hoke Smith, beside whom few were more pleased with the president's recognition of Mr. Stovall. Senator Bacon and every member of the Georgia delegation indorsed Mr. Stovall for the diplomatic servife.

As minister to Switzerland, Mr. Stovall will be stationed at Berne, which is the capital of the republic, and where is situated the American legation. It is one of the most delightful and picturesque cities in the world. Its population in 1910 was 85,264 people.

Switzerland is a confederation of twenty-two cantons, forming a historic republic without a homogeneous nationality or natural geographical frontiers on any side, lying practically in the very center of Europe, between France, Germany, Austria and Italy. Its population is about 4,000,000, and it is area about 15,500 square miles.

The educational facilities of Switzerland are unequalled.

Cato D. Glover was nominated register of the land office at Montgomery, Ala.

Senator May Bring Soda Fountain For Legislative Drinks

DALTON, Ga., June 17.—Senator-elect M. C. Tarver Monday purchased at public sale, a handsome soda fount, giving $10 for his bargain. The fount was bought for $900 originally, and had seen only a few month's service.

While admiring his purchase, Mr. Tarver observed that in addition to the compartments for the various syrups that go into the making of soft drinks, the fount had a spacious ice chest. He is now looking up freight rates, having seriously considered the advisability of having it shipped to Atlanta for the benefit of himself and his legislative friends during the hot summer months.

When the keen blade of an assasin's knife cut short the career of Deputy Sheriff Dave Yancey, in the prime of life, these six little children, ranging in age from six to fifteen years, were made fatherless, and the mother hard worked from early morn until the shades of evening, a widow, the sole means of their support. The little home on the Jonesboro road, just beyond South View cemetery, was only recently bought by Mr. Yancey. Illness came and he was unable to make the last two payments. On it is still owed $900. The Journal and others have already given to a fund started for their help. This picture is a mute appeal to Atlantians to assist. The cottage is shown at the bottom and in the upper right hand corner is the slain father. The group from left to right shows Lois, the second oldest girl, who has just left the hospital, and who could not be kept in bed when she learned of her father's death. She was so weak that she and her mother, who is next to her in the picture, had to be assisted to and from the house. On the other side of Mrs. Yancey is Mamie, the oldest girl. Then comes little Paul and on the bottom row are Willine, Obie and Grace. If you would like to aid this family in distress send your subscription to The Journal or to Sheriff Wheeler Mangum.

CITY'S FINANCIAL CONDITION FINE, DECLARES AUDITOR

that the accounting system should be revised and brought up to the standard prescribed by the American Waterworks association. Privately owned companies, says the report, have adopted this system, and so should Atlanta.

Concerning the school department, the report says the census bureau's rulings for reporting financial statistics should be adopted.

Concerning the park department, the report says the bookkeeping system can be greatly simplified, and that a more efficient check should be kept on cyclorama receipts.

Concerning the bond funds, the report says a detailed audit was made of receipts and disbursements covering 1912, 1911 and 1910, and that the terms of the bond ordinance seem to have been followed.

The city's bonding capacity is now approximately $6,000,000, the report points out.

The lands and buildings of the city, says the report in this connection, should be appraised once a year by the city tax assessors and city building inspector, so that the city may be informed of its bonding capacity at all times up-to-date.

tenth section of the act of congress known as the Interstate Commerce Act and is therefore void and unenforceable."

The court apparently took consideration of the fact that the ordinance was aimed at shipments into Georgia from adjoining states, notably Florida and Tennessee, for it is intimated that the prohibition law precluded legitimate shipments of liquor from dealers in Georgia to other portions of the state.

MAYOR ATTACKED FOR STAND ON CREMATORY

Alderman Nutting on Floor of Council Intimates Power Company Influence

Alderman Nutting charged on the floor of council Monday afternoon that the proposed electric generating plant in connection with the new crematory is the real reason why Mayor Woodward has fought the crematory contract.

Without mentioning any names he plainly intimated that the Georgia Railway & Electric Power Co. does not want the electric plant built and that the mayor has acted in accordance with the company's wishes.

After the council meeting, when informed of Alderman Nutting's charge, Mayor Woodward said there was not a word of truth in it. "The company opposed me for mayor and spent money in behalf of the candidate who was so frantically supported by Alderman Nutting," said the mayor.

Council at a previous meeting had passed a resolution instructing the finance committee, when it drew a new crematory contract so as to conform to the supreme court's decision, to take an option on the Destructor company for the construction of the generating plant also. The mayor sent this resolution back to council without his approval or disapproval, and it was in connection with the mayor's failure to act that Alderman Nutting made his remarks.

WHAT NUTTING SAID.

"This resolution is the real milk in the cocanut of the mayor's attitude toward the crematory," said Alderman Nutting. "He didn't want the crematory built because the original contract has been knocked out by the supreme court, and we cannot make a contract for the generating plant because we have only enough money to pay for the crematory, the mayor is willing for the crematory to be built, but he doesn't want the city to take an option on the generating plant."

The city attorney, when asked for a ruling, held that the mayor's failure to approve or disapprove left the resolution "up in the air," and supplanted this opinion by saying that if the resolution was of any moment to council, the mayor's non-action had better be considered as a veto, and the resolution passed notwithstanding the same.

"I should say it is of some moment," exclaimed Alderman Nutting, "and I move that the resolution be passed notwithstanding the mayor's veto." The motion carried. Then council passed in a similar way the resolution authorizing the Destructor company to continue in possession of the crematory site and go on with the work, the mayor having failed to act either way on this paper also.

BUDGET GOES THROUGH.

So far as the budget was concerned, council let the mayor's approval stand, although it was a conditional approval. He approved it on condition that it did not conflict with the supreme court's decision. Council members, when this was read by the clerk, laughed and said it meant that while the mayor approved the budget he would still reserve the right to refuse to sign checks or block the crematory in any other way he could find, and was merely using the supreme court decision as a pretext.

"I want to know, Mr. City Attorney, if a conditional approval is an approval," inquired Alderman Nutting. "If there is any doubt, I want to make a motion that the budget be passed over his veto, so as to make sure."

The city attorney ruled that an approval is an approval, and that any language the mayor may add thereto is no consequence whatever, so far as the legality goes.

So council let the mayor's "condition" pass.

A contract for the crematory will now be drawn up, submitted to the mayor in advance of council's action, for him to examine and satisfy himself on all points, and will then be passed by council next Thursday afternoon at a special meeting.

Health Restored by Eckman's Alterative

If you are a sufferer from Glandular Tuberculosis, or know of anyone so afflicted, it might be well to investigate this case, where the writer declares after a year and suffering found permanent relief and full recovery to health by using Eckman's Alterative, a medicine which has been effective in many cases of Tuberculosis:

"Gentlemen: In March, 1909, my doctor pronounced my case Tuberculosis in the Glands, and a number of operations in a hospital failed to benefit me. In the meantime, a friend of mine advised Eckman's Alterative. The wounds in my neck were still open and in a frightful condition when I started to take it. After using two bottles I found I was improving, having gained weight, could eat and was able to sleep. I continued using it until I was well, which was in November, 1910. Before I took the medicine I had three hemorrhages; since I have been taking it I have had none, and on November 11, 1910, I started to work, and since that time I have not lost one day's work through sickness. I highly recommend Eckman's Alterative to anyone who is suffering from Gland trouble."

(Affidavit) JOSEPH B. WHITE.

Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious in cases of severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. For sale by Jacobs' Pharmacy and other leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.—(ADVT.)

NO TAX FOR VENDORS OF FOOD, SAYS COURT

Special Peddlers' Tax Doesn't Apply to Hucksters, Holds Supreme Court

A peddler is not a peddler, that is, if he peddles a food product; and furthermore, he can't be taxed as such, declares the state supreme court in a decision handed in two Atlanta cases on Monday, knocking out part of the state's vending tax law.

The result, in two cases brought by Atlanta vendors to stop Tax Collector A. P. Stewart from getting the $50 special peddler's tax, held that the tax law did not include the vending of food products. Since the tax law sets forth certain articles—soap, jewelry, etc.—the court decided by the "doctrine of construction" that only articles of similar nature were meant.

The two Atlanta cases brought by E. M. Latham and H. Butler, sought to restrain the tax collector from getting the $50 from peddling butter, eggs and fruit.

The decision, which means that a peddler of food products can peddle to his heart's content without paying a cent to the state, was dissented from by Justices Lumpkin and Hill.

The majority of the court said that the statute might include newsboys, with a strict construction, and the dissenters insisted that this illustration was not apt as newsboys had not been considered vendors, whereas, hucksters had always been regarded as peddlers pure and simple.

SHAW ANTIQUES TO BE AUCTIONED WEDNESDAY

Wednesday has been set as the day for the auction sale of the famous Shaw collection of teakwood and mahogany furniture, cloisonnes, tapestries, bronzes and silver, that were gathered by Mrs. Francis D. Shaw, during her European travels, principally in Japan.

Connoisseurs have declared the collection the finest in the south and among the most complete in the United States. Among the most valued articles comprised in the collection are a Kioto cabinet carved by Nagchuji, the Manchurian master, and a collection of Satsuma over bronzes, classed among the only genuine in this country.

The entire collection will be sold by E. Bernard, auctioneer, who is acting under instructions of a receiver appointed by the court to dispose of these effects.

BROOKS TRUCK FARMER MAKES NEW RECORD

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

QUITMAN, Ga., June 17.—J. H. Malloy has been making some experiments in truck growing this spring and has realized excellent results from the twenty-five acres of cucumbers and ten acres of Irish potatoes he planted.

So far he has shipped 2,800 crates from the cucumber fields and will ship an additional 1,800 crates next week. The price realized was $2 per crate, less than the fancy price received from the early Florida cucumber crop, but enough to prove very profitable indeed. This is one of the few experiments made here in truck growing but it is believed more of this sort of farming will be done in the future.

Crops in this section follow the Florida crops and anything can be grown successfully here which is produced by the Florida truckers.

MACON PHILATHEAS LEAVE FOR DUBLIN

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., June 17.—Macon will be well represented at the state convention of Philatheas which convened this morning in Dublin for a three-day session. Over twenty delegates went from Macon to remain throughout the meeting. The convention marks the seventh annual meeting of that organization.

The Macon delegates will solicit the support of the different state delegations for the purpose of landing the 1914 national Baraca-Philathea convention, when the fight is made at the Nashville, Tenn., convention for the next annual meeting place. Over 100 Macon people will attend the national convention, leaving here next Saturday, for the purpose of securing the next convention for Macon if possible.

ESCAPED FROM STOCKADE TO GET MORPHINE

Craving for morphine, the indulgence of which has brought her more than once to jail, Rosa Harper, aged twenty-eight, of 20 Terry street, escaped from the stockade Tuesday morning. Several policemen finally found her in a house in the rear of 20 Terry street.

She had just indulged in the use of the drug.

"You can take me back now," she said to Call Officer Gorman, who took her into custody. "I've had my 'medicine' now."

At the police station the woman was charged with a misdemeanor in walking away from the stockade, an offense punishable by a thirty-day jail sentence.

"Even if they do double my sentence it's worth it," she exclaimed. "I just had to have my morphine."

AMERICANS ARE TOLD TO LEAVE MEXICO

(By Associated Press.)

MOBILE, Ala., June 17.—The American consul at Campeche, Mex., has advised women and children of the United States who are now in Mexico to flee the country, according to officers and refugees on the British schooner N. J. Taylor, which reached port early this morning.

Two women and a man all from Indiana entered port as passengers, having come from Campeche. There has been no riot or blood shed in that city recently, officers say.

BUBONIC PLAGUE SWEEPS THROUGH HAITI PORT

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, June 17.—An epidemic of bunbonic plagiie has broken out at the seaport of Jacmel, thirty miles from here. Numerous cases already have resulted fatally. Jacmel has been isolated from the rest of the country by a cordon of troops and the government is taking energetic steps to prevent propagation of the disease.

Dogs Are Poisoned

ROME, Ga., June 17.—Some unknown person has been busy for the past week with strychnine and has poisoned a number of fine dogs in Rome. R. B. Dunn, a bailiff of the justice courts in this district, who has been employed to take a "dog census" of the city and see that all dog owners pay the city license tax of one dollar, was arrested under warrant sworn out by J. C. Watters, whose bulldog was poisoned, and his preliminary trial will be held during the coming week. He has given bond of $100 for his appearance before Justice Walter Harris.

COURT HITS PART OF NEAR-BEER TAX LAW

Wholesale Dealers Needn't Py $1,000 on Each Brand of Beer, Says Court

Wholesale near-beer dealers fared well at the hands of the state supreme court Monday when that part of the tax law, which attempts to assess dealers for each separate brand of beer handled, was held invalid.

The law is, declared the court, that the business of the wholesale near-beer dealer (his place of business) is to be taxed $1,000 annually, and that any attempt to tax a dealer $1,000 for each brand of beer handled under the same roof would be unconstitutional.

The case came to the supreme court from the court o fappeals. It originated in Glynn county, where J. H. Morgan, a wholesale dealer, refused to pay more than $1,000 yearly as a near-beer tax. He handled several kinds of beer, brewed outside Georgia, and the ordinary of Glynn tried to collect $1,000 for each.

The court said:

"Properly construed, section five of the tax law requires a business tax of $1,000 on every person who maintains a place of business . . . The tax is on business and applies more definitely to the place of business."

EPWORTH LEAGUERS HOLD MEETING AT EASTMAN

BY REV. ALEX W. BEALER.

EASTMAN, Ga., June 17.—More than 200 delegates from all south Georgia are here attending the Epworth league conference which opened last night. The welcome address was delivered by Dudley D. Smith, of Eastman, and responded to by Hatton Towson. Today opened with a sunrise prayer meeting conducted by Rev. Arthur Moore, of Blackshear. Rev. Martin Culbreth, of Nashville, Tenn., conducted a social service institute showing how the churches should work to uplift their communities.

The electoral commission to nominate officers for next year consists of G. C. Barnhill, Glenwood; Mrs. C. E. Taylor, Cochran; E. L. McNeill, Macon; Arthur J. Moore, Blackshear. Miss Ruth Gref, Savannah; Miss Mary E. Dozier, Columbus; Miss Grace Beverly, Thomasville; Herman Martin Fitzgerald and Miss Regina Deming, Valdosta.

JUSTICE AND BAILIFFS INDICTED BY JURY

MACON, Ga., June 17.—Justice of the Peace J. H. Brown, his constable, Lee Davis and E. W. Howard, who appeared in Brown's court as a prosecutor of a negro, Edgar Ellah, have all three been indicted by the grand jury for alleged irregularities in handling the case of the negro.

It is claimed that the negro was made to pay $14, the cost of the court for his release from jail, which a violation of the law.

J. A. Flournoy, who had the negro employed at the time of his arrest is prosecuting three indictments.

HOSPITAL DOORS CLOSE BEHIND "BRIDGIE" WEBBER

Witness in Becker Case Refuses to Tell Anything About His Stabbing

NEW YORK, June 17.—"Bridgie" Webber, a witness against former Police Lieutenant Charles R. Becker, the convicted instigator of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was able today to leave the hospital, where he has been since early Saturday morning, when he was stabbed in the back under mysterious circumstances. Fears that the knife used might have been poisoned were groundless and it is believed there is no danger of complications.

Webber has steadfastly refused to tell anything more of the stabbing than that it was some unknown "kid" who attacked him on the street just after he had left a party at Sam Paul's East Side restaurant, at which a number of his former associates in the underworld were present. Many of his East Side friends, however, hold to the belief that Webber's life was sought by some of his enemies in revenge for his testimony in the Becker trial, involving many members of the gamblers' fraternity.

AMERICAN "MEDS" MEET IN ANNUAL CONVENTION

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 17.—The American Medical association met for the opening session of its sixty-fourth annual convention today. The way was pasted for the convention by the house of delegates which was in session yesterday.

Dr. Abraham Jacobi, of New York, the outgoing president, called the meeting to order after which the new head of the association, Dr. John Witherspoon, of Nashville, was installed and delivered his address.

After the opening program addresses were made by special visiting physicians.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY PEACE IS CELEBRATED

Germany Observes Anniversary of Emperor's Ascension With Holiday

(By Associated Press.)

BERLIN, June 17.—The twenty-fifth anniversary of the accession of Emperor William to the imperial throne was celebrated today throughout the German empire as a general holiday.

The commemoration which had been deferred from its actual date out of respect to the memory of the emperor's father, Frederick, coincides with the forty-second anniversary of the triumphal return of his grandfather at the head of his victorious army after the Franco-Prussian war and was marked by considerable military display.

Emphasis was laid also on the peaceful aspects of the emperor's quarter century reign—industrial and civic developments and the prosperity of the country.

Presentation of an address from the American peace societies by Andrew Carnegie, R. S. Brookings, of St. Louis, and J. S. Schmidtapp, of Cincinnati, to give the emperor an opportunity of bringing out this aspect of the occasion.

$99,000,000 OIL SUIT OPENS IN DALLAS, TEX.

DALLAS, Tex., June 17.—Hearings in the Texas $99,000,000 penalty suits began here today. Dallas is the head of the marketing department of the Magnolia Petroleum company of Corsicana, a Texas oil refining concern, involved State's attorneys said they would investigate prices and selling contracts while in Dallas.

The state contends that the Standard Oil companies of New York and New Jersey or some of their stockholders, who also are stockholders in the Magnolia, influenced the prices charged by the Texas concern and controlled its selling department for the benefit of Standard Oil interests.

No testimony was taken at today's session, which adjourned after formal organization until tomorrow to enable the state's attorney to investigate the books and the correspondence of the marketing department.

The "Blue Tag" Furniture Sale

A Message of Fine Savings on Every Little Blue Tag

Atlanta has not known such a sale of furniture as this "Blue Tag" Sale! Such elegant furniture, such reckless reductions make a rare combination and a rare opportunity---an opportunity that the housekeeper who is in any way interested in furniture is not going to overlook. It would be too expensive for her to overlook it.

Why, there is not a piece of furniture that goes into a house that can not be bought for a great deal less than at any other time of the year! We mean the most elegant home where furniture must be in keeping with luxurious surroundings and the home where simplicity rules and true, sturdy long-life furniture is wanted.

Take for instance this

Dining Room Set

Perhaps one of the rarest examples of Mahogany Dining Room furniture that was ever brought to Atlanta. You must see how richly the Mahogany is marked and its wonderful color to appreciate the truth of this statement.

It is a Colonial set.

The table is 60 inches, extension table.

The sideboard, a massive 7-foot affair with many roomy compartments.

The china cabinet, properly it should be called a china "press." It stands high with mirrored back, plate glass shelves, paneled front and with compartments below for holding quantities of wares.

The serving table is 48 inches long.

A Day for Her Who Would Be Her Own Milliner--

Untrimmed Hats That Were $2.50 to $7.50 Are

75c

But the quantity is limited to a number smaller, we know, than the number of women who would be their own milliners with such a tempting opportunity before them—there are eight-five untrimmed hats in all. They are hemps, split Belgians and a few Milans in the darker colors so fine for traveling, for wear with suits. The shapes are those the style-authorities demanded this season—small and medium with brims and crowns turned and curved in wonderous ways and varied.

And at 75c instead of $2.50 to $7.50.

Flower Trimmings That Were 50c to $1.50 Are

25c

A garden of flowers in full bloom. There are roses—ever so many—pink roses, red, red roses, dainty little clusters of French roses, carnations—all but fragrant—nodding poppies, rich dahlias and others. They were 50c to $1.50 a bunch—which may mean a single flower or a half a dozen flowers. And now they are 25c.

The Railway Rate Decisions.

The series of decisions rendered yesterday by the supreme court in the railway rate cases of Arkansas, Missouri and West Virginia constitutes a further and a still clearer application of the principles already enunciated in the famous Minnesota issue. The right of the States to regulate railway affairs within their own borders so long as their measures to this end are not confiscatory is affirmed; and the plea that particular acts on the part of the State authorities are an interference with interstate commerce is set aside as invalid.

The court reiterates its original assertion that where Congress has failed to act and until Congress does act, the individual State may act in the interest of the people, regardless of the fact that such action may indirectly affect interstate commerce. There shall be no point, the court holds, where the conduct of railway companies shall be left to "the unrestrained will of individuals."

That is to say, there shall be no twilight zone wherein a railroad has license to override a State law simply because there is no federal law applying to the question at issue. The State, of course, can enforce no rate that is confiscatory in its effect; and on this ground the court has set aside several regulations which State commissions or Legislatures had established. But unless the roads can prove that such regulations are equivalent to taking their property from them, they must conform to the State's requirements.

These decisions clearly affirm the right of Congress to adopt such measures as the country's needs may demand for the regulation of both intrastate and interstate commerce where the two are blended; and it is the belief of some that interstate commerce laws will be greatly amplified and extended. But the fact of immediate importance is the court's guarantee of the State's right to regulate, as it may see fit in accordance with the due rights of property, the railway business within its borders.

The heat is doubtless a preliminary to an insane Fourth.

Elastic, India rubber currency, and more of it, is what we common people need.

The traditions of journalism still survive. Here is a correspondent who names the manufacturer of the revolver in a murder case, and highwaymen are still referred to as "bold."

The Opening of the Playgrounds.

It was a happy chime of circumstances that the city's playgrounds opened Monday, the year's warmest day thus far and the herald of a long-lived summer. What these opportunities for wholesome and intelligently directed play mean to the children's welfare and to the parents' peace of mind is almost beyond reckoning. Certain it is that without them Atlanta would be a far less desirable place of residence, and with them it becomes doubly attractive to the home-seeker.

This season eight municipal playgrounds will be conducted, six for white and two for colored children. These are fewer than were opened last year, but the park board thought, and rightly, that it as better to maintain eight grounds with thorough equipment and supervision than a dozen or more in a half-handed manner. Competent directors and assistants have been secured for each of the playgrouds, so that parents will have no hesitancy in letting their children resort to them.

It was comparatively a few years ago that Atlanta began the development of a system of public playgrounds, but the results thus far attained justify a thousand times over every dollar that has been appropriated to their maintenance and prove the importance of perfecting and extending the system until every neighborhood in the community shall have a playground of its own.

These institutions are intensely practical in their purpose and their values. They supplement the work of the department of health on the one hand and that of the department of education on the other. They are training camps for good citizenship and a stimulus to moral no less than to physical welfare.

Mobile seems to be determined not to give up her place as head of the baseball line.

Reports indicate that the crops of the country are in such fine shape that they have growing pains.

It may be difficult to convince a man that it is really heaven if he finds any of his wife's relations there.

President Wilson apparently sees nothing novel in the established fact that the voters of the country have some right to say what Congress shall do.

The Progress of the Tariff Bill.

Tht Democratic tariff bill, which was passed overwhelmingly by the House and which for six weeks has been under the review of the Senate finance committee, is nearing the final stage of its progress toward enactment. Indications are that within the next few days it will be ready for the party caucus, where it seems assured of almost unanimous support. Thence it will proceed to the field of open debate and, though the encounters there may be sharp and prolonged, they will have little or no effect on the outcome. The decisive vote will be close, but, unless all omens fail, the Democratic majority will be sufficient to pass the measure unimpaired in any of its vital principles or particulars.

This prospect, which means so much to the rank and file of the American people, has been attained despite the earlier predictions of doubtful Democrats and despite all that a cohesive Republican minority, backed by strong and resoureful interests, could do. When the bill first reached the Senate there were rumors of defection from the Democratic camp. It was said that sugar and wool would make common cause and indefinitely hold up the measure that purposed to place both these commodities on the free list. It was said that irresistible pressure would be brought to bear upon certain wavering Democratic senators; and as a matter of fact very powerful and seductive influences were turned in that direction.

But, with the exception of two or three Democratic senators, whose position is easily explained and, indeed, was discounted far in advance, the party's strength in the Senate is as compact today as it was in the House when the bill first came to a vote.

The finance committees and the various subcommittees have recommended a number of changes in the details of the measure; and these will doubtless be adopted. But invariably they have been changes suggested by the friends of thorough tariff revision with a view to strengthening the bill, not to weakening it. They have been changes in behalf of the consumer and of the country's common interests; and the bill that will go to the caucus and later to the Senate as a whole will embody the great principle that in no instance should the many be taxed for the special benefit of the few.

When the Democratic party has given the country such a law, it will have fulfilled its chief pledge and it will have proved how well it deserved the people's confidence. It is a wonderful tribute to the vitality, the practical efficiency and the leadership of the Democratic party that it has brought the tariff bill safely to a point where its enactment is virtually assured.

Aside from the specific good that will be accomplished by a reduction of the now exorbitant tax on the necessaries of life, aside from the many particular benefits that will come from a law that will strike down the old barriers of high protection and open the way for wholesome competition and for free business initiative, the progress of the tariff bill is significant for this additional reason: it shows that there is at length in this country a political party which is strong enough and honest enough to serve the people instead of the old bosses and the special interests.

The election of Woodrow Wilson to the Presidency and of a Democratic majority to the House and the Senate was an event the full import of which we are just beginning to realize. It foretold a new era of government, a new advent of political and economic freedom.

Our Merchant Marine.

The awakening to the need and the opportunities of an American merchant marine is indicated by the fact that during the month of May there were built in the United States one hundred and eighty-nine vessels, aggregating thirty-nine thousand, nine hundred and thirteen tons.

This is to be interpreted, however, as a cheering tendency rather than as any substantial achievement upon which we can afford to rest.

It is a notorious fact that the United States flag has been well nigh unknown on the high seas of commerce. American merchants have had to ship on foreign-built and foreign-owned vessels.

The opening of the Panama canal, now at hand, emphasizes more, perhaps, than any other circumstance could the urgent need of a merchant marine of our own.

THE CABARET

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

(Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

I want to raise my feeble voice in protest against the cabaret. Not that it is immoral, for I don't belong to the order of militant purifiers, but that it is an unmitigated nuisance. I don't like it. There may be many who do like it. They have a right to their taste. But as one small integer of the human race I also have a right to mine. And, as I said, I don't like it. Whereto I set down herewith the following specifications, towit, namely:

Eating is to me a social function. I don't like to feed alone, like a stalled ox. I like to dine with friends and temper the sensual gratification of the palate with chit-chat and a good story. And the presence of a bunch of musicians pounding and scraping and singing with all their might and main renders intellectual intercourse impossible. I don't like to eat in a boiler factory.

Secondly, I don't like the kind of alleged music the American cabaret serves. I am tired of ragtime and smut songs. Once in a while I enjoy seeing a young man play the fool, or a young woman dance and chortle, but when I get it every day it grows wearisome.

If I could dine, as in Germany, in an outdoor garden, where the din has a chance to escape, or in a restaurant where a string orchestra plays subdued strains (and plays the kind of music one likes to hear over and over), it might do; but to consume food while a human jumping-jack is prancing around among the tables tempers digestion with fear and tends to produce gastritis.

Furthermore, my crankiness extends so far that I particularly object to the human voice raised in gladsome noise while I am ordering my fillet of celery a la Kalamazoo or my fried beans a la Parker House, I get mixed. I try to follow the singer's words, which to follow is impossible. The singer who can enunciate English intelligibly is yet unborn. In the effort to decipher the bill of fare, printed in home-made French, and the song, which is rendered in Choctaw, I am tempted to imitate the desperate Californian who wrestled awhile with a Frenchified menu and finally, in despair, ordered $100 worth of ham and eggs.

Again, as one of the most famous restaurant men of New York said the other day, the cabaret is, on account of its expense, lowering the quality of the food offered. I believe in good eating. The preparation of food is one of the fine arts. So is music. But the one should not be all gummed up by the other.

The cabaret invasion is resulting in ill-cooked food, the bad effects of which one is supposed to drown with booze and minstrelsy.

If somebody will tell me where I can go and find dishes carefully prepared by a genius who loves to cook and knows how, where I can be waited on by a gentleman or lady who does not plump my viands down and go off forever, and where I can make a friend to dine leisurely and in such quiet as will permit conversation, I shall be grateful.

Reuben R. Arnold Discusses A Clause of the Income Tax

Editor The Journal:

Your editorial of yesterday headed, "A Foolish Clause of the Income Tax Bill," is very timely and very much called for. The other leading newspapers in the country should take up the movement against this absurd provision in the income tax bill and hammer at it until it is completely eliminated and some more sensible plan of collecting this tax adopted.

I have read the provision over and it seems to me to be very unwise, bungleasme, and will cause much complication and injustice. The obnoxious feature is that clause of the bill which seeks to collect the income tax at the source of its origin by requiring lessees, agents and other persons, before paying over rents and the like, to deduct what is supposed to be the income tax from the amount paid over.

This provision will cause a very Pandora's box of evils to be opened. It is impracticable, incapable of enforcement and will not aid in the collection of the tax; will put an unnecessary burden on honest tenants, holds out an inducement to fraud to dishonest tenants and reduces the security for the income tax by taking from the landlords the custody of the fund and putting it in the hands of persons not usually as responsible, not as easily located, and who constitute a class so numerous that all the energies of the government could not keep up with them.

Under the provisions of this tax, a negro tenant in a one-room house, paying $2 a month rent, would have to pass on the question of how much the income tax is on that sum and deduct it, and the government would have to establish relations with this negro tenant and collect the tax out of him. A negro tenant on a farm could get into a dispute with his landlord as to the value of the crops raised and as to the amount that should be withheld for the income tax and render the collection of the legal rent very difficult.

It ought to be borne in mind that the majority of tenants are not likely to have an income of $4,000 per annum, which is the minimum income taxable under this act. Such tenants have no interest in making a return, and yet such tenant, who is not liable to the tax, who is not interested in the tax is compelled by the government to practically keep books and remain the custodian of a fund, simply because of the fact that the government is afraid to trust the landlord to make a proper return. Is it not entrusting just as much to the tenant by requiring the tenant to hold the money?

Look what a burden this law puts on the tenant. How does the tenant know that the landlord's net income is over $4,000? How can a tenant figure upon either the gross or the net income of the landlord without making extensive inquiries? If the tenant on a venture holds out the gross percentage of the tax from his rents, this, of course, may not represent the net income of the landlord because his income may be reduced by various expenses against these rents of which the tenant knows little or nothing. It would necessitate in practically every case of tax a proceeding by the landlord against the government to recover back the difference between the tax on his gross and his net income.

The principle of collecting the income tax at the source of its origin may suit some of the old established governments of Europe, where conditions are fixed and stable and where a tenant lives in a house where his ancestors have lived for centuries, but with our fluctuating population, our intense business activity, such a scheme is entirely a misfit. If such a provision is adopted, it will hurt the whole principle of an income tax and will likely result in its early repeal; it will cause endless trouble to all classes without any corresponding benefits.

If the income tax required the whole return to be made by the person to be taxed, the experience of one or two years under such a law would point out the particulars in which the law should be strengthened to make it effective. The government would not be found by the returns of the persons taxed, and with all of its army of agents, the government could well be trusted to ferret out false returns and compel a person to return approximately what he ought to.

The income tax should not be made too stringent to start with. The government should feel its way slowly and gradually with this tax so as to make it popular instead of unpopular. If the framers of this tax had tried, they could not have inserted a provision that would cause more chaos and more adverse sentiment than the provision I have just referred to.

THE PHILIPPINES

V—The Private Schools.

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Private schools and colleges in the Philippines have had very little in common with the public schools until recently. In fact, they have been antagonistic to the cause of free learning for the people. They still are so to a great degree, and doubtless would continue to be but for the growing demand of the Filipinos for sane, practical instruction, and the determination of the insular government to bring such institutions up to public school standards.

Prior to American occupation all the schools in the islands were private to all intents and purposes. A great many were supposed to be public, but only those persons who could pay got the benefit. The courses were classical, never practical. In Spanish times not one trade school, agricultural college or anything of the sort worthy of the name could be found in the entire archipelago. Even in the courses taught definite standards were not maintained. A young man's B. A. meant very little in comparison with the same degree in this country. The colleges for men turned out lawyers, advocates and literary lights who could not work, and despised those who did. The schools for girls minced daintily through maidenly maxims, learning and needle work. No school ever had a gymnasium, no educated young man knew the sweet smell of a furrow turned by his own hand, no young woman felt deserved exultation over a home made spick and span by her good day's work.

Up to three years ago this uneconomic and undemocratic state of affairs in the private schools and colleges showed very little modification. Some endeavored to meet the new order of things as exemplified by the public schools, but did not know how. Others were forced to widen their courses by the insistent demands of parents who wanted to be progressive. A certain percentage, now steadily diminishing, indifferent to the example before them and to the pressure from behind, would not give up their archaic system to assist in lifting the islands to a plane of self-respecting industry.

What the Philippine islands always have needed, and still need, is skilled farmers, trained mechanics, small tradesmen and the like. They must learn what the rest of the civilized world is already assimilating —the doctrine of efficiency. The islands have been among the most backward of all Christian nations in this respect. According to the findings of the commissioner of education of the United States to South and Central American countries have been ahead of the Philippines, the possession of "advanced" America. The universities of Uruguay, Chile and the Argentine Republic support modern industrial branches of study. The last named, in particular, gives courses in natural sciences, agronomy and veterinary science which equal those of Cornell and the universities of Michigan, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania. The Catholic university of Santiago, in Chile, teaches mechanical, electrical and civil engineering.

Three years ago Vice Governor General Newton W. Gilbert, who also is secretary of public instruction, decided that these private institutions had to be trimmed to the new era. They were no good to the people. They were, in fact, the bulwark of organized opposition to untrammelled schools. He concluded to standardize them and considered it wiser to gently bring them in line with the government's educational policy than to drive them into a small, compact force of active opposition. The work has been done from his own office under the direction of P. S. O'Reilly, a division superintendent of schools on special duty. Today all the worthy institutions, religious and secular, are in hearty accord with the plan. The others are going under, smothered by their own mustiness.

At the present time twenty-five private institutions have adopted the courses decreed by Vice Governor General Gilbert, who used to be a member of congress from Indiana. Last year nine were taken into the fold, one for the degree of bachelor of arts, two for high school diplomas, four for intermediate and two for primary certificates. Six others are expected to reach the standard this year. Of the schools still unapproved, thirty in number, six or eight are looked upon as sure to get through within a couple of years. There is little hope for the others.

The unapproved schools which are showing very little disposition to meet the requirements of the government are as bad as they ever were. They usually are found in provincial capitals, and some are in the city of Manila itself. They occupy private residences which frequently are dirty, dark and cramped, imparting an atmosphere quite remote from that derived from real fountains of learning. The "professors" know little or nothing about grading and classification of school work and their text books would shock a patent medicine almanac of 1870. Mere boys are allowed to grope through college subjects. Four or five years of this brain scrambling is supposed to turn out "illustrados." They are permitted to plaster out their own courses, upon payment of the fees which feed the "professors." Skipping of grades is another recognized privilege of the embryo "illustrious one." Practical studies, sanitation and athletics are unheard of in these places. They are saturated with reactionarism. They turn out conceited, ignorant glib heads and will continue to do so until they die of dry rot.

The most worthy of the private institutions are Santo Tomas university, the Ateneo, Silliman institute, Liceo de Manila, Le Concordia, Centro Escolar, Assumption, La Salle and San Juan de Letran. Most of these are Catholic colleges which have been and are above the average Philippine institution of learning. The first on the list is over 300 years old, and has graduated the majority of Philippine leaders in religion, politics, art and business. Silliman institute is Presbyterian, located at Dumaguete, Oriental Negros, in the Visayan sugar belt. The Liceo de Manila is an admirable secular college in Manila which is run wholly by Filipinos. Most of the Catholic colleges always have been under strong Spanish influence. Assumption college is perhaps the leading girls' school in the islands.

The higher private institutions are permitted to give the B. A. degree after a thirteen-year course, which includes four years of primary, three of intermediate, four of high school and two of college instruction. The college course in the first year requires German or Greek, logic and psychology, with two optional studies chosen from English literature, French, Latin, plane and solid geometry (if not previously taken), elementary chemistry, advanced sociology colonial history, public finance. In the second and last year German and elements of politics are required. The optional studies, two to be chosen, are English literature, French, trigonometry and surveying (if not previously taken), advanced physics, advanced chemistry, ethics and metaphysics.

BRAND NEW TAX SYSTEM NEEDED, SAYS CANDLER

Railroad Commission Head Says Whole Plan Should Be Re-written

Taking the position that what Georgia rally needs is not a revision of its present tax system, but an entirely new system C. M. Candler, chairman of the state railroad commission, and a thorough and well posted student of tax problems, suggests that the best way for the legislature to accomplish something definite and direct will be for it to name a tax committee of five able men to work out a modern and up-to-date system for Georgia.

For many years Mr. Candler has made a study of the question of taxation, and while he was a member of the state legislature he took an especial interest in the subject. Following is an interview with Mr. Candler on the necessity for a change in the state's system of taxation:

"What Georgia needs to increase her state revenue and to distribute fairly the burden of government support is a modern, logical and equitable system of taxation, based upon scientific assessments.

"Our present system is based upon voluntary returns and hence its inequalities.

"Our constitution compels the application of the ad valorem theory to all forms of property, irrespective of its character and hence the aggravation of inequalities.

"Railroad systems, telephone systems, manufacturing plants, farms, cows, horses, corporate bonds, are all attempted to be valued by the same plan of method. This is impossible.

SYSTEM OF 1904.

"We have today, with hardly an innovation, the same crude tax system we started with in 1804.

"In 1804 probably 90 per cent of our taxable property was in lands, with a little merchandise, household goods and live stock.

"Today probably 50 per cent of our taxable wealth is incorporate. Another large percentage of it is in urban property.

"We have state, county and municipal tax officials—three jurisdictions—all taxing the same property, with the county officials representing 142 different taxing governments.

"Is it surprising that inequalities, lack of uniformity and unequal distribution of burdens exist between individuals and between counties? Amendment to our present laws will never completely or satisfactorily remedy the evils of unjust distribution of burdens or supply the revenue needed by the state and justly due it.

SYSTEM BREEDS INEQUALITIES.

"Equalization boards can never remove unfair burdens which are the natural results of a system which in itself breeds inequalities.

"We need a new system—a re-creation, not amendment or patching of an old system out of date and inherently wrong.

"The old theory of ad valorem taxation of all property alike, must be abandoned and fair values of entirely different species of property ascertained by methods especially adapted to each class. There should be a segregation of taxable properties between the different taxing jurisdictions.

"In a fifty-day session with twelve hundred or more bills before it, the overwhelming percentage of which are local, requiring preferred attention, or supposed to demand such, the general assembly does not have the time to devote to the preparation and perfection of such important legislation as tax reform.

"Individual members will be found slow to vote for radical reforms touching taxation, except after recommendation thereof upon careful confidence.

HOW TO GET REAL REFORM.

"I do not believe any real reform is going to be accomplished, unless after the methods pursued by nearly every other state in the union—which has a modern system—that is through tax commission.

"The general assembly, in my judgment, can produce no wiser method to create a tax commission—one not composed of members of the legislature—but citizens, say five, three of whom should be appointed by the governor, with the comptroller general and attorney general ex-officio members.

"To get good men, the three executive appointees should be well paid and required to devote their whole time to the work until it is completed. The commission should have two years in which to complete its work, although this much may not be needed.

"It should report by bills prepared for the consideration of its recommendations—these bills to be laid before the general assembly. The commission should be supplied with the necessary clerical help, and given sufficient funds to carry on its study and work expeditiously and thoroughly.

"If the personnel of the commission is high, such as I believe it can be made with decent compensation, I have no doubt but that the general assembly would enact its recommendations into laws that would give Georgia a modern, equitable and efficient tax system.

BURGLAR IN HOME FIRED POINT BLANK AT COUPLE

Did the burglar who invaded the home of A. H. Hall, 14 Markham street, about 1 o'clock Tuesday morning, carry a pistol loaded with blank cartridges?

That is the question which is puzzling Patrolmen Cochran and Darby, who answered the call to the Hall residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall were sleeping in the front room of their residence. Shortly after 1 o'clock Mr. Hall was awakened by an unusual sound, and looking up he saw a negro standing in the room. He shouted at the man and started to get out of bed.

Then the negro fired a single shot point blank at the frightened couple. In another second he had gone through the window, taking the blind and the curtain with him.

Neither Mr. Hall nor his wife was injured, and the officers who rushed to the residence were unable to find any trace of a bullet. Hence the theory that the marauder was armed with a pistol filled with blanks.

PIEDMONT AVENUE CAR FRANCHISE IS DECLINED

Council Sides With Property Owners in Their Objection to Franchise

Council Monday afternoon refused to grant the Georgia Railway and Power company a franchise to lay a car track on Piedmont avenue for a distance of four blocks as a means of adding facilities for getting to and from the car barn.

Councilman Mason led the opposition. He said all the property owners on the four blocks oppose the franchise, and claimed that the franchise might in the future be the means of shutting out a competing interurban line from entering the city.

Later in the session council instructed the mayor pro tem to name a special committee of ten to consider the matter, although the former action in the meantime will stand.

The charter amendment, recommended by the tax committee, to reorganize the city tax office was passed notwithstanding the strenuous opposition of Councilman Ball, whereupon he and Councilman Smith held the matter up by giving notice of a motion to reconsider.

Council refused to appropriate money for W. M. Rapp and W. G. St. John, of the waterworks department, to attend the annual waterworks convention.

Dr. George S. Tigner resigned from the Grady hospital board because of his removal from the Second ward, and Frank Wilby resigned as member of the park board from the Second ward on account of not having the time to attend to the work.

APPEAL WILL BE TAKEN IN LYNN MURDER CASE

An appeal from the decision of the supreme court of Georgia will be taken in the case of the state against Alonzo L. Lynn, who was sentenced to life for the killing of Frank M. Hightower, an old veteran, near Dublin last December.

Lynn was jointly indicted with his wife. She pleaded guilty of firing the shot which killed the old man, but said he had made improper proposals to her. She was acquitted. The state produced letters which indicated that the victim might have been lured to the Lynn farm.

Candidates Won't "Treat"

GEORGETOWN, Ky., June 17.—All the twenty-five Democratic candidates for offices in this (Scott county) assembled here yesterday and pledged themselves in resolutions neither to "treat" nor to use money in efforts to influence the voters in their favor at the primary to be held in August. They agreed to meet again on the eve of the election, providing that any one who could not then make oath that he had kept the pledge, should withdraw from the race.

The church recently celebrated its thirteenth anniversary and is the oldest in that portion of the city.

No Race Suicide Among Animals in Grant Park Two Baby Lions Arrive

"Race suicide" has become so unpopular among the animals at Grant Park zoo that Park Manager Dan Carey says it begins to look as if the city won't have to buy more animals.

"We've got two baby lions, you know," announces Mr. Carey.

There were three, but Sultana, their mother, stepped on one and killed it.

So Animal Keeper Boyd took the remaining two away from Sultana, and is going to raise them on a bottle. They haven't got their eyes open yet, and are very much like kittens, whining in a weak voice and crawling blindly arou' in their box.

This year there have arrived in the zoo a baby leopard, a baby llama, a baby sacred calf of India, three baby deer, a baby monkey and several other baby animals.

The Spirit of Later-Day Advertising

As we have said before, the purpose of The Journal is first of all to serve its readers. To do this is not only the right moral attitude toward our constituency but it is good business, speaking from a purely business standpoint.

And so it is that we point out from day to day the advertising features of The Journal and the advantages to be gained from keeping posted in all of our news thus presented.

The spirit of advertising is different today from that of years ago. The idea no longer is to fool around and to misrepresent, but to inform and to invite. And it is the constant aim of Atlanta merchants to stick resolutely to facts.

It is this spirit on the part of advertisers that makes for confidence and enables us to to direct the attention of our readers to the profitable practice of Journal "ad" reading, feeling that in so doing we render them a distinct service.

RENEWED BULL SUPPORT CAUSED RISE IN COTTON

Market in New York Closed 2 Points Off to 9 Points Up From Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 17.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 5 to 8 points in response to favorable weekend reports, realizing and selling for a turn after the sharp advance of yesterday. There were a good many overnight buying orders which gave the market a pretty steady undertone, but prices gradually sagged off with the active months about 3 to 6 points net lower during the early trading. Private cotton advices from the southern belt indicated a rapid improvement with the help of clear, warm weather. Cables were fairly Liverpool reported heavy realizing.

The market became active and firm later in the morning on reports of covering and bull support. Stop loss orders were uncovered in the new crop months as the market worked into new high ground for the movement and the market showed considerable steadiness on the close with various 11 to 15 points net higher on the late deliveries.

The trade was less active during the afternoon and prices eased off 7 or 8 points from the highest, but commission house reports encouraged by the rapidity of the early advance and a favorable weekly weather report.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON
(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, June 17.—Cotton futures opened steady at a decline of 8 to 12 points on prac sellers and continued to weaken materially over the cotton region. Little support was offered in the house and the local market was weaker short interest appeared to have been liquidated in the early trading and a relatively large short line was covering in the last half hour yesterday, thereby leaving the market in better technical condition than for months past. At the end of the first half hour of business prices were 14 to 16 points under yesterday's close.

Until after the middle of the morning the market was dull and the decline at the outset of trading held. Toward 11 o'clock and the time of the noonday call on the weather reports the market braced up and did better. The reports were called extremely bullish because of their mention of abnormally low temperatures in the cotton belt, especially in Arkansas. Heavy buying and an active market followed at this time, which checked the upward movement. At the highest the market was 8 to 10 points up for the day, but today's close at noon it was unchanged to 4 points down.

Saving and Investing

An Expert on Real Estate Securities.

BY JOHN M. OSKISON

Frankly, this is going to be mainly an article of quotation—and of warning. Read it if you are hopelessly an optimist this afternoon. The quotations are from an article in the New York Times by Horace Anderson. I can assure you that I know what he's talking about. Here is part of what he says:

"The term real estate securities' has been very much abused in the past few years. It has come to be applied not alone to mortgages, but to securities not directly founded on mortgages, but also to securities where the investor can depend very little, if at all, on the security of the real estate involved in the transaction.

"There is a theory that any security which has land for its ultimate basis is a safe one, but there is no theory which is so likely to disappoint those who believe in unqualified theories.

"It is, of course, true that land cannot disappear over night. However, your interest, or perhaps we should say your value interest, in the ground of real estate can disappear over night just as effectually as your interest in any personal property. The important point is to discover the real nature of the security offered to you, and to get this information from some one who knows, and who has no financial interest in deceiving you.

"If you are investing in a mortgage, remember that there are many kinds of mortgages, and not all of them of equal safety. . . . In the case of mortgage securities, you should find out whether they are secured by first mortgage or second mortgage, or whether they are secured by mortgage at all.

"Perhaps you are depending simply on the promise of some one to pay, or on the success of some business enterprise, and have no mortgage security at all. Find out. If necessary, pay for good advice. In fact, to get good advice from some one who is disinterested, and to be sure that he really is disinterested, is a very good rule to apply to any dealings whatever in connection with real estate."

INTERESTING NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE MARKETS

Weather Reports, Crop Advices, Expert Opinions and Newspaper Comment

COTTON GOSSIP

Times-Democrat says:

Monday's cotton market opened with favorable weather over the belt and favorable weather promises during the week. It closed around the day's high point, with a good deal of buying still anxious to buy. A reaction is looked for today, but conservative traders do not expect a permanent decline in the near future. In the first place, the New York stock market is too small for the safety of July shorts, but it is far too small for the comfort during the bullish season to come of large speculators generally. These latter realize that they cannot continue to operate on the large scale until the New York stock shall have been enlarged. They also realize that so long as the New York July contract continues to be the basis for dealings in the south, cotton will not be drawn to the Northern spinner. It is also becoming apparent that with Europe competing with southern mills for the cotton of the entire middling and the grades above, the trade will be apt to gobble up the early receipts of the better grades and the "call" for the lower middling options, cannot hope to attract cotton until November or December.

Today's government weekly weather report is expected to be very unfavorable, on account of the cold spell last week, according to best information no actual damage was done and temperatures are now entirely normal.—Kellar.

Dallas wires: "Texas Panhandle clear; rest cloudy; some good rains in south and central portions. Oklahoma generally clear.

Journal of Commerce says: "The bull side is becoming more popular as usual after an advance of over 200 points

Pink roses and sweet peas formed the decoration of the home, and in the dining room pink sweet peas combined with white feverfew arranged in a plateau formed the center of the tea table.

Miss Johnson was costumed in white marquisette embroidered in shades of lavender, and Miss Baker's gown of pink silk voile was draped over pink satin.

Mrs. Johnson, who assisted in the entertainment of the guests, wore a gown of gray charmeuse veiled with lace.

Twenty-five young girls were the guests of the occasion.

Mrs. Meador Gives Five o'Clock Tea

Mrs. J. Frank Meador entertained at tea this afternoon at the Piedmont club, the guests being invited for 5 o'clock tea which was served from a prettily appointed table on the ball room porch.

Lawn Party

The lawn party which was to have been given by the Philathea class last Thursday at 333 Whitehall street, will be an event of June 19.

Everybody is cordially invited. Children will be served from 3 to 5 in the afternoon, and the grown folk fro 3 to 10 p. m.

The Philathea young ladies will serve the ice cream and cake.

OWENS-HALL WEDDING A BEAUTIFUL EVENT

The marriage of Miss Charles Owens and Mr. Edward Buckingham Hall was a beautiful event, taking place Monday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Owens, on Eleventh street.

The attendants were Miss Marion Goldsmith, maid of honor; Mr. Joseph Winterbotham, of Chicago, best man, and a charming quartet of young people which included the young cousins and brothers of the bride, Donovan and John S. Owens, Jr., and little Miss Theodore Owens and Harriet Shewmake.

The bride entered with her father, the ceremony being performed in the library, Dr. Hughlett, of St. Mark's Methodist church, officiating. Miss Eda Bartholomew playing the wedding march, accompanied by an orchestra.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of white ivory white satin altesse, the skirt slightly draped in pannier effect, the corsage combining rose point lace and tulle the lace caught in front by a butterfly ornament of rhinestones.

Rhinestone buckles and heels to the white satin slippers added another jeweled touch and the filmy folds of her tulle veil were held in place by a chaplet of orange blossoms, the veil falling over the long court train which fell from her shoulders. She wore her mother's pearls and a diamond bracelet, the gift of the groom.

Her bouquet was of wild roses showered with lilies of the valley, the lovely roses giving the only touch of color to the beautiful costume.

Miss Goldsmith wore a gown of chiffon flowered in pink rose buds, the panniers opening over a skirt of white accordian plaited chiffon. The little girls wore dainty hand-made frocks and carried nosegays of cornflowers, daisies and poppies held in old-fashioned lace paper holders.

The wedding picture was a beautiful one, the lovely group having as a setting the library walled with palms at one end where the altar was arranged a canopy of smilax arching from the background of green, its scalloped edges fringed with lilies of the valley. Clusters of Bermuda lilies showed against the massed background and formed columns at each side of the white satin prie dieu. The windows were outlined with ropes of smilax and daisy chains, the chandelier covered with the same green and white and gold flowers.

Field flowers gave their varied color note to the decorations of the other rooms. The table in the dining room had in the center a great basket filled with cornflowers, daisies, poppies and snap dragons harmonizing in a glow of blue and yellow, white and crimson beauty, four smaller baskets filled with the same lovely flowers alternating with silver candlesticks burning white tapers under frames of filagree silver.

Ropes of smilax starred with daisies were festooned between the wide doors and outlined the windows, and baskets of the field flowers were used on the mantels and cabinets throughout the house.

Mrs. Owens received her guests wearing a beautiful gown of white satin brocade the corsage of shadow lace and tulle, and was assisted in entertaining by the members of the family, Mrs. William Donovan, who wore a gown of lavender charmeuse combined with lace and seed pearl; Mrs. Claude Shewmake, who wore a crown of flesh pink charmeuse veiled with a tunic of lace, a girdle of blue charmeuse giving a contrasting touch of color; Mrs. Arthur Chapman and Miss Donovan, of Macon.

Mrs. Chapman's gown was pink chiffon over self tone satin trimmed with lace and pearls and Miss Donovan wore a gown of blue charmeuse veiled with lavender chiffon.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Edward J. Hall, wore a becoming gown of lavender satin draped with brocade chiffon in the same shade.

Punch was served on the broad porch, which was lit by garlands of gaily colored lanterns and transformed into a delightful parlor by chairs, palms and bay trees adding to the pretty effect. Serving punch were three attractive young girls, Miss Elizabeth Shewmake, Miss Marion Donovan and Miss Lilian Stevens. The former wore a gown of white batiste embroidered in blue, Miss Donovan's white gown showing pink embroidery and Miss Stevens wearing a pretty gown of pink mull.

The wedding was one of special interest the pretty bride being a universal favorite since her debut several years ago. Mr. Hall has a cordial acquaintance here made during his frequent visits. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Hall, of Morristown, N. J., and a popular figure in the club life of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Owens for a fortnight before leaving for the north.

At $3.85 Pretty Summer Apparel---Dresses, Coats, Blouses, Skirts

What Is a Bargain?

A bargain is something sold at a lower price than the seller could afford to accept regularly or repeatedly, and of greater service-value to the buyer than could be obtained regularly or repeatedly at the price paid.

While this store has many unusual bargains, we never use the word in our announcements concerning special or underpriced merchandise, because it cannot be denied that the word is much abused in some stores. We prefer to state the plain facts and figures and let our customers decide as to whether the article is a bargain to them.

We have no doubt as to what your decision will be after you have seen the merchandise in this very unusual sale.

Davison-Paxon-Stokes Co.

What Anne Rittenhouse Says

Here is a suggestion for the woman with a satin suit of which the coat may be out of fashion or slightly threadbare or too hot. Discard the coat entirely if it doesn't fit in with the fashion scheme of the day or hold it over until cooler weather comes, then buy or make a Russian lace coat blouse to wear as a substitute.

The shops sell these at reasonable prices and one can make them at home provided there is a seamstress who knows how to fit the shoulder line, which is the most important part of a belted Russian blouse.

The heavy lace is better for ordinary purposes and yet fashionable women are adopting shadow lace in its wide variety of weaves, some of which are called malline. These are quite in keeping with the fashion for transparency which the season approves, but the average woman may not care for a coat that is so evidently intended for a late afternoon o revening occasion.

She may prefer to wear a short satin skirt and a heavy lace coatee over a lining or net or chiffon from the waist up, with elbow sleeves and a high neck, as a costume for lunching, driveattending any of the outdoor afternoon ing in the afternoon, making calls or events which now govern the life of a summer resort.

There are ecru blouses of Russian lace which are lined throughout with black chiffon and have a black velvet ribbon belt looped at the back through a jet buckle and finished at the neck and sleeves with turnover collar and cuffs of hemstitched black chiffon. You can see this in your mind's eye as a very suitable and attractive accessory to a draped satin skirt and a black and ecru hat. The latter may be made of the lace with black tulle and a black fantasy at the side of the back. There is much durability in such a costume and the charm is that it can be worn well into the winter and later serve as a house or theater gown for the rest of the season.

Russian Coats of Shadow Lace.

If a woman has a good looking satin skirt for house wear which includes all kinds of day functions as well as those informal affairs of the evening, which are something less than dinners for eight, dances for twenty and balls of any nature, she will find that the addition of a short Russian blouse of fine shadow lace will make the skirt into an artistic costume.

It is better to use one of these Russian blouses as an adjunct to a skirt than to make a new waist, because it has novelty for one thing, and because there are so many occasions in which the Russian blouse is suitable when a decollette waist is not.

The first thought that enters a woman's mind with the satin skirt is to build it up into an evening gown with tulle or spangled net, and while this is satisfactory it is conventional and the average woman may not need such a frock during the summer months; when the Russian blouse is added to a satin skirt she can find all manner of affairs at which it serves.

If one is not in touch with the great centres where these Russian lace blouses are sold at a reasonable price she can still follow out the idea at home, because there is no set rule for their making. The main idea which she should carry in her head is to have a loose negligee body part and a slightly around the figure below the waist or is separated in front and is irregular at the sides or back. This peplum can be fashioned in any way that individuality suggests.

It might be suggested here that it is always more artistic when it is longer in the middle of the back than in front but this again in the hands of the wearer who should know her own figure better than any one else knows it.

The Making of a Coatee.

The lines of the regulation Russian blouse are not followed out when the material is laced, no matter whether it is heavy or thin. The excessive looseness and drag of the material is emphasized in lace even more than in cloth because all the garments above the waist are continually made in this fashion, although there is an effort to bring back the round tight bodice of Victorian days.

The neck should be cut high at the back but low in front, if it is possible for a woman to stand this kind of exposure in the afternoon hours. It can be as low as she wishes as far as fashion is concerned, for it seems to put no limit on the daytime decolletage. This makes dressing easier for the woman of moderate means who wishes to wear one gown before and after candlelight without the trouble of adding a gump; for gumps have a way of riding up even when made in the best regulated manner, and under any kind of a boned foundation they are most satisfactory.

Not that the lace Russian blouse should have a boned lining unless one's figure demands it for we have arrived at the most negligee type of clothes that women have worn since the Grecian era; even if there is a boned lining and a corset below the sagging, drooping, slipping off waist, neither of these supports must be visible.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BED TIME

By Thornton W. Burgess

Bobby Coon is afraid! Yes, sir, Bobby Coon is afraid, He doesn't dare go with me to look at that half-eaten chicken over on the Green Meadows. He's a coward, that's what he is!"

Reddy Fox muttered this to himself as he trotted away from Bobby Coon's big hollow tree in the Green Forest. Reddy was right and he was wrong. He was right in thinking that Bobby Coon was afraid. Bobby was afraid, but that didn't make him a coward. You see, he couldn't see what good it would do him to go see that half-eaten chicken way out there in the Green Meadows so far away from trees. You know, Bobby is like Happy Jack Squirrel—he never feels really safe unless there is a tree close at hand to climb, for Bobby's legs are not very long, and, though he can run fast for a little distance, he soon gets out of breath. Then he climbs the nearest tree. But if there had been any really good reason for going Bobby would have gone even though he was afraid, and that shows that he wasn't a coward.

But Reddy Fox likes to think himself very brave, and every one else a coward, when the truth is Reddy is one of the greatest cowards among all the little meadow and forest people. So he trotted along with his nose turned up in scorn, because Bobby Coon was afraid. He was disappointed, too, was Reddy Fox. You see he had hoped to get Bobby to go with him, and when they got there to get Bobby to go close to the half-eaten chicken and try and find out who had left it there on the Green Meadows, and what for. Reddy, who is always suspicious, thought that there might be a trap, and if there was, Bobby would find it, and then Reddy would know without running any danger himself. That shows how sly he is. He INSERT—CUT wouldn't have cared how much trouble Bobby Coon might have gotten into, so long as he, Reddy Fox, found out what he wanted to know.

But as long as Bobby wouldn't go there was nothing for Reddy to do but to try the same plan with Jimmy Skunk, and he headed straight for Jimmy Skunk's house. Now down deep in his heart Reddy Fox hated Jimmy Skunk, and more than once he tried to get Jimmy into trouble. But now as he saw Jimmy sitting on his doorstep Reddy looked as pleasant as only Reddy can. He smiled as if Jimmy were his best friend.

"Good morning, Jimmy Skunk. I'm so glad to see you," said Reddy. "I hope you are feeling well this morning."

Now Jimmy had had a good breakfast of fat beetles, and he was feeling very good-natured. But he wasn't fooled by Reddy's pleasant ways. To himself he thought: "I wonder what mischief Reddy Fox is up to now," but aloud he said:

"Good morning, Reddy Fox. You are looking very fine and handsome this morning. Of course no one who is as big and brave as you are is afraid of the stranger with the terrible voice who has frightened the rest of us so for the last few nights."

Now all the time he was saying this Jimmy knew perfectly well that Reddy was afraid, and he turned his head *to hide a smile, as Reddy swelled him*self up to look very big and important and replied:

"Oh, my, no! No, indeed; certainly not! I'm not afraid of anybody or anything. By the way, I saw a strange thing down on the Creen Meadows early this morning. It was a half-eaten chicken hidden in a clump of grass and bushes. I wondered if you left it there."

Jimmy Skunk pricked up his ears. "No," said he, "I didn't leave it there. I haven't taken a chicken from Farmer Brown's this spring, and I haven't been up to his henhouse for more than a week. Whom do you suppose could have left it there?"

"I haven't the least idea, unless"—Reddy looked this way and that to make sure that they were alone—"unless it was the stranger who has frightened every one but me," he finished in a whisper.

Jimmy pricked his ears up more than ever. "Do you really suppose it could have been?" he asked.

"Come down there with me and see for yourself," replied Reddy. And Jimmy said he would.

The Evening Story — Miss Felton's Lawn

Miss Pelton flung down the book that she had been trying to read and pulled back the lace curtain. The volley of hoots, yells and shrieks had been a true warning. The grammar school across the way had been dismissed and a small army of boys was tearing across her lawn as the nearest cut to the campus, a block north. She shook with wrath as their heavy boots cut into her velvet sward—or what had been velvet sward before they built the new schoolhouse across the way. Her flower beds were trampled at the corners, her biggest dahlia broken, her rosebushes almost uprooted.

Miss Pelton orse and got her hat. She had been a dozen times to the crossing policeman—he had stupidly condoled with her, and vowed that he chased those pesky young devils whenever he caught sight of them, but somehow he never happened to be around when they were shooting across her property. She had been several times to the school principal, a nervous little dried old man, who promised humbly to make them behave, but he had never kept his word.

Now she was going to the parents of the two ringleaders—two freckled, brown-eyed brothers who had the shrillest voices, the hardest boots, and the most impudent grins of the whole crowd. *Professor Jenson told her reluc*tantly their names and address. "I don't think the boys mean to be bad," he explained meekly. "It's only that they forget."

"They won't forget after this week," said Miss cPlton grimly. "Or they'll be put in a place where they'll remember." She would not listen to his entreaty to wait until he had lectured them again severely—she started forth.

Genevieve cPlton was the richest woman in the big, bustling town, and one of the least liked. Her gray pompadour and severe blue eyes might have been attractive if they had ever been lightened by a smile. But they never were. She was not a stingy woman. She gave liberally to charities and did not expect thanks. "The class of people are never grateful," was one of her sharp speeches.

Only a few knew that when she was a girl at boarding school she had been engaged to a good looking young medical student. No one knew why the engagement had come to nothing. She had been called home about that time by her mother's death, and then had gone back to finish the year. Then her father had died, and some people said the two events so close together hardened her. Some people said that she was hard by nature.

So no one sympathized with her in her pending feud with the boys. And the boys, who failed to extend sympathy of their elders, were not much frightened by the weekly lecture of Professor Jenson.

But while Ferdie and Art, the two freckled leaders, saw her emerge from the professor's office, which was at the side of the schoolhouse on the ground floor, get into her phaeton and turn the horses down the hill in the direction of her home, they were not startled and followed at a discreet distance.

And they were not far behind when she got out in front of a shabby cottage and went in. But they did not follow her in. They slipped around to the rear, panic stricken, and unobtrusively crept down on the back stoop to await results.

Miss Pelton marched to the door and rapped vigorously. A tall, slattern woman opened it. "Come in," she said; "he's busy. Wait in there," and was departing to the dining room.

"I have come about your sons," said Miss Pelton sternly, noting the woman's soiled apron and shuddering disgustedly. What could one expect from the sons of such a mother?

"Ferdie and Art?" questioned the woman wearily. "You needn't tell me; I can guess. Little limbs of Satan. Say, you don't want to trounce 'em any worse'n I do. My hands fairly itch to thrash 'em, but he won't let me—says he'll tend to it. But, laws! he'd cut his own hand off before he'd touch 'em."

"How ridiculous!" snapped Miss Pelton. "I will inform him that if he can't control them the law may step in and do it for him. You say he is here?"

"He's busy now," with a jerk of greasy forefinger toward a closed door. "In a minute he'll be through. Sit down. I've got cake in the oven and I got to see to it."

She waddled off. Miss Pelton, clean, immaculate, well groomed, followed her unkempt figure disgustedly. A moment later there came a shrill scream from the kitchen. "Ferdie! You just dare to get in that breadbox again! Wait till I tell your father. Anyway, you're going to get it. There's a lady waiting for him. Don't come coaxing me. I won't send her away."

Miss Pelton sniffed disgustedly. What a way to raise children! No wonder the boys were bad. Then the door behind her opened. A tired looking woman with a baby said, "Thank you, doctor," and hurried out.

A strong, familiar voice said: "You are waiting, madam?" Miss Pelton turned slowly. The voice had prepared her, but the man to whom she turned had not been prepared. "Genevieve!" he cried.

"I had no idea you lived in this town," said Miss Pelton, dully. "How long have you been here?".

He led her into his office before answering. "Two years," curtly. "I have seen you several times in the street." And then he waited for her to tell the reason of her visit. But she did not speak. She was looking at him with yearning eyes. No one seeing her then would ever have called her austere —only a bit tired and a bit sad. "You haven't changed very much," she said slowly. "I dont see how I passed you without knowing you."

slowly. "I don't see how I passed you "As for changing, why, Genevieve, I'm an old man." He laughed a little and ran a thin, white hand through his grayish-brown hair.

"And I'm an old woman," bitterly. Then some resentment that had lain buried for years flamed forth. "I've been an old woman ever since"—

He rose and walked up and down the room. "I couldn't help it, Genevieve," he replied. "I was engaged to her before I saw you. I had to go back to her. She was a weak, despondent little thing. I knew you could stand it the best. It wasn't pleasant for me, Genevieve, living without you."

Miss Pelton's lips curled. She just remembered Ferdie and Art and the slatternly woman who had admitted her. And then came remembrances of the cause of her visit. But she could not say anything about his boys or his life. She rose to go, and then reflected that she must give some reason for coming. While she hesitated, the two boys, believing that she had gone, bounced into the room and immediately, with a sputter of dismay bounced out again.

Their father knew them fairly well. He caught the alarmed glance that they gave Miss Pelton in their impetuous departure. "What have they done?" he demanded wearily. "I might have known you hadn't come merely to see me. If their mother had lived—"

"What!" exclaimed Miss Pelton hastily. "Wasn't that their mother who admitted me?" There was a queer, relieved light in her eyes.

"Old Mrs. Briggs, my housekeeper?" queried their father. "Hardly, Genevieve, Ellen lived only five years, and I don't suppose I've even them the care they ought to have. It takes a woman, he said wistfully, "to look after children." Under the unmistakable longing in his eyes Miss Pelton's hard face grew unbelievably soft and tender. She swept from the room to the reception beyond and there found the two boys sitting, very small and scared, on chairs, while Mrs. Briggs stood over them and told them eloquently what sort of places reform schools were.

Miss Pelton picked up Art, the smallest, and kissed him. He had his father's eyes. Merdle backed in panic.

"You're coming home with me for dinner," Miss Pelton announced, and from her tone she might have practiced at motherhood for years.

And the next afternoon the grammar school was electrified by the calm announcement of Art and Ferdie that they would "lick" any fellows they caught cutting across "their" lawn.

HAWKES GLASSES — HAWKES GLASSES

Tired Eyes

Did you ever take off a tight, hot, ill-fitting pair of shoes and slip your feet into a pair of cool, soft slippers? If you have you know the meaning of genuine relief and solid comfort. That is exactly what a properly fitted pair of glasses will do for weak, tired, worn-out eyes. Modern business conditions necessitate long hours of close eye-tiring work and it is not surprising that your eyes give out easily, ache, pain, burn and finally break down. Glasses are the remedy and the only remedy, unless, of course, you stop using your eyes altogether. Glasses, properly fitted, will strengthen and preserve your eyes and enable you to do your work easily and with comfort. We are equipped to make a thorough and modern examination and will fit the correct lenses in an up-to-date frame or eyeglass mounting at a very moderate figure. Come in and talk to us about your eyes. If you don't need glasses after we have made a careful examination, we may be able to give you some good pointers on how to take care of your eyes.

Corset Lectures By Mme. Dean

The Mme. Mariette Corset Company, of Chicago, whom we represent exclusivly in Atlanta sends to us Mme. Dean, with her finished knowledge of Corsets and how they should be worn to advantage, to talk to you about this vital subject.

Almost every woman has worn a corset of some sort since she was grown up. The "sort" she was not very particular about in in every instance. The way she wore it gave her little concern. But that was when she was too young to know, or when all of us knew little enough about corset making, corset fitting or corset wearing.

The course of time has developed wonderfully for better health and better figures for women, the making of corsets, and the Mme. Mariette Corset is a result of this expensively acquired knowledge.

The corset you wear will "make or break" your figure. Mme. Dean will tell you the "why and wherefore" of the art. She is not here to simply demonstrate Mme. Mariette Corsets. She is here to instruct in the proper adjustment of the corset to the best advantage for your health and your figure's sake. She will tell which model you should wear, which will give you the lines that suit your build, and *which is for your physical im*provement.

Mme. Dean will be with us all week and will lecture every morning between 10 and 12 o'clock in our corset department on the second floor.

Brassiers and undermuslins pertaining to the perfect fitting of corsets are sold in this department.

Every corset we sell is perfectly fitted.

Alluring Sale of Summer Dresses

Keely Company

Offers Tomorrow

678 New Summer Dresses

at $8.50 each

This is a remarkable statement, but, one borne out by facts. The woman with the instinct for VALUE; the wise shopper; the keen trader; the person who knows style, will find in this sale the right model; the right color; the right size. No disappointments. They are made of the SCARCE FABRICS, in the POPULAR SHADES, on the RIGHT LINES.

Our Buyers Were in an Upset Dress Market last week, and secured from a prominent maker of summer apparel

678 Dresses (we wish there were 2,000 of them). He cleared his entire stock and discarded all former prices. He tells us that the lot averages $16.75 wholesale. He sold the lot of his summer dresses because of unusual market conditions.

We BOUGHT them, because we were in a position to take advantage of these conditions. We are inflexible in our rule, that the stock shall be kept continually clean and fresh, hence we are never crowded with undesirable suits and dresses; therefore, we are always ready for an opportunity like the present.

678 Dresses of Linens, Crepes, Voiles and Crashes.

In STYLES, you can choose from about twenty models.
In COLORS, you can secure any fashionable tint.
In SIZES, you can pick a misses, 16 or a lady's 44, and all between.
In VALUES, you can buy dresses and suits worth $16.50, $18.75 and $20.

In the collection there are New Balkan Blouses, with crushed girdle and draped skirt; with colored collars and cuffs, high waist.

A Dressy gown of dotted mull, in Polka, Pin and Medium size dots; velvet girdle; draped skirt; short sleeves; scalloped net ruffle finish.

The French Linen Dress is bloused front and back; turn down collars and cuffs, hand embroidered; slashed skirt; finished with hand-made ornamental buttons.

Another model in the new Blouse surplice effects, with scalloped net ruffle finish; velvet girdle and sash; tucked sleeves; draped skirts; Empire back.

The one-piece strictly tailored dress has hand-embroidered band down front; hand-embroidered collars and cuffs; high girdle; button trimmed.

There are also the tailored suits, of Linen Canvas; French Linen and Linen Crash, in the new Cutaway, Balkan Blouse and Norfolk Jacket effects; plain or draped skirts; high girdles.

Wednesday morning the whole center of the second floor will be devoted to this sale, with extra sales help for prompt service.

Smith Looms Best Bet for Champ Honor

Cracks From Atlanta Are Sure to Put Up Good Article of Tennis in Fight for Title, Good Matches Tuesday

The play in the Georgia state tournament has reached the second round in the men's singles. Several fast matches were played in the preliminary and first rounds. The Mansfield-Orr match was perhaps the best of the day. Dropping the first set by a close score, Mansfield came back strong and took the next two sets from Orr. Hard driving and fast net work featured the match. All of the old guard came through without a scratch except where they drew one another. Ed Carter and B. M. Grant both won their matches easily playing in good form.

Carleton Smith played his usual brilliant game. His terrific cross court driving netted him game after game. There seems to be no one in the tournament who is able to put one over the southern champion and at present he looms up as a certainty for the title. Nat Thornton's work in the Old Dominion tournament was of the highest order, but the ex-champ seems to be unable to do a thing against the fast driving game that Carleton Whitey put up on every occasion.

In the doubles it looks like a battle royal between Mansfield-Smith and Grant-Carter. Both are well balanced teams and when they meet there should be some great tennis. Nat Thornton has not selected his partner as yet, but if he can get one who can follow the pace he sets they will form a strong team.

The results of Monday's play follows:

FIRST ROUND.

A. W. Smith defeated A. Clarke, 8-6, 2-6, 6-0.

H. J. Hall defeated Grover Middlebrooks by default.

S. C. Williams defeated Henry Groves by default.

Mansfield defeated Orr, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3.

McLarty defeated Sims, 6-4, 6-4.

Fleet defeated L. E. Grant, 6-0, 6-2.

Matthews defeated Drummond Jones by default.

The following men drew byes:

L. D. Scott, G. A. Howell, E. R. Black, Jr., J. Draper, W. Colquitt, P. B. Green, J. B. Williams, C. Y. Smith, T. H. Williams, H. Perry, G. W. McCarty, H. M. Ashe, Jr., W. Nunnally, W. Griffith, Ramspeck, Abbott, Hallman, E. V. Carter, Jr., Martin, Porter, Jennings, Grant, J. Colquitt and V. R. Smith.

SECOND HAND.

G. A. Howell defeated L. D. Scott, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4.

Draper defeated E. R. Black, Jr., 2-6, 6-2, 6-2.

P. B. Green defeated W. Colquitt by default.

C. Y. Smith defeated J. B. Williams, 6-0, 6-3.

T. H. Williams defeated H. Perry by default.

G. W. McCarty defeated H. M. Ashe, Jr., 6-4, 6-2.

W. Nunnally defeated W. Griffith by default.

Abbott defeated Ramspeck by default.

E. V. Carter, Jr., defeated Hallman, 6-3, 6-0.

G. R. Porter defeated Martin, 6-2, 6-3.

B. M. Grant defeated Jennings, 6-3, 6-0.

THIRD ROUND.

C. Y. Smith defeated F. B. Green, 6-1, 6-3.

TUESDAY'S PROGRAM.

The plays grow closer as the tournament progresses and Tuesday's play will weed out the players still further. Several matches in singles and doubles will be played and the majority of them should result in some good tennis. The schedule of the play follows:

MEN'S SINGLES.

Tom Wilson vs. M. A. Candler

H. J. Hall vs. Sam Williamns.

Mansfield vs. McCarty.

Fleet vs. Matthews

V. R. Smith vs. J. Colquitt.

A. W. Smith vs. winner of Wilson-Candler match.

G. A. Howell vs. Draper.

DOUBLES.

Mansfield and Smith vs. Wilburn and Candler.

Hall and Crenshaw vs. Porter and partner.

McCarty and Green vs. Colquitt and Clarke.

Grant and Thornton vs. McCarty and Jennings.

Howell and Williams vs. Orr and Ramspeck.

The other pairings in the doubles are as follows:

MEN'S DOUBLES.

A. W. Smith and Draper vs. Sims and Fleet.

Matthews and L. E. Grant vs. Scott and Porter.

Grant and Carter vs. Hallman and Williams.

MIXED DOUBLES.

The drawings in the mixed doubles are:

Miss Muse and A. Clarke vs. Miss O'Brien and Grant.

Partner and Orr vs. Partner and Carter.

*Miss Stanton and Thornton vs. Part*ner and Ramspeck.

Partner and Mansfield vs. Mrs. Hall and C. Y. Smith.

CONSOLATION SINGLES.

The drawings in the men's consolation singles will take place this afternoon. There will be no matches staged in the mornings, as there will be a sufficient length of time to play them off in the afternoons.

COBB'S WORK

Ty Cobb's bat did not rain hits on Monday, getting just one out of three times up, and as a result his average suffered a slight slump. He is now hitting just .406 while two weeks ago his average was around the .450 mark.

While Ty was dropping off a bit Joe Jackson was also falling down, the Carolina boy with the Naps making one hit in three times up and his average suffered a slightly worse slump than did Cobb's, due to the fact that Jackson is hitting a bit more than Tyrus.

Here are the figures:

| G. | A.B. | R. | H. | Pc. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 39 | 138 | 23 | 56 | .406 |

Took the Rain From Grain

(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

A South African wizard has succeeded in raising rainless wheat—wheat raised where rain doesn't fall.

It is quite possible that he will now claim to be the man who removed the rain from grain.

Conzelman to Work in Fray Against Vols

George Beck, the Best Bet Nashville Shows, Will Oppose New Flinger—Chapman May Again Play

Ladies' day again, and the ladies will most probably be given a treat for several reasons. Conzelman will pitch for the Crackers, and from the way the big lad has been going, he should get the Vols' goat in good style. His battery mate will be Harry Chapman, who has been out of the game for two weeks on account of a split pin. Harry's pepper and dash have made a great hit with the local fans, and they will be glad to see him don the mask again. Joe Dunn needs the rest.

Conzelman will probably be opposed by Beck, who will occupy the hill for the Vols. Nashville is still in the fight for second place, and is sure to be there with the punch this afternoon. They are pushing Atlanta and Montgomery to a finish, and all three of these teams are only a few points behind Chattanooga. The Atlanta-Nashville series will probably put the Crackers back on the second rung.

The Crackers opened their home start at such a good gait, that they will be hard to stop. With Whitey hitting in the pinches, and Babbit Long back off his temporary slump, there is sure to be a noise when the big end faces Mr. Beck.

DUNDEE AND WHITE NEAR LIGHT MARK

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—The Dundee-White 20-round bout at Vernon arena tonight will be more of a lightweight than a feather-weight match. They are to fight at catch weights. Dundee, who recently fought a draw with Champion Johnny Kilbane, will weigh close to 129 pounds when he enters the ring, according to training camp gossip. White will weigh within a pound of that notch. Although the feeling is growing that White has an even chance to win, owing to his being the harder hitter, Dundee is 10 to 8 favorite today.

JINX HOT AFTER GRIFF'S NATIONAL CLUB; INJURIES PUT THEM OUT OF CLOSE RACE

Champ Hardluckers—1, Frank La Porte; 2, Carl Cashion; 3, Tom Hughes; 4, Howard Shanks; 5, Chick Gandil; 6, Ray Morgan; 7, Eddie Foster; 8, John Henry.

Speaking of "hoodoos" and "jinxs," the Washington American league team is in a class by itself.

The confidence of the critics was well placed, for Washington won from the jump. Then accidents occurred. Not one or two accidents, but many. And they took away the stars, one after the other, until the speedy aggregation was as full of holes as a peek-a-boo waist.

First Eddie Foster, said by Ban Johnson to be the best recruit of 1911, and a star among stars, was downed by typhoid; followed quickly a broken bone in "Chick" Gandil's foot, which put the man for whom Griffith paid $10,000 to make Washington a contender in the hospital.

One after the other players were injured or became ill. John Henry, one of the greatest young catchers in the game, was crippled by a floating cartilage in the knee; then his hand was injured.

Ray Morgan, the lightning second baseman, was laid low by illness.

Shanks, fleet fly chaser, went to the bench with a twisted ankle.

Frank LaPorte, utility infielder, can play only occasionally, an injured foot slowing him up and at times making play impossible.

Tom Hughes, in his second childhood but pitching splendid ball, was crippled by a batted ball.

Carl Cashion, second string pitcher, is out of the game with a strained ligament in his arm.

Roehler, the National's left-hander, is unable to pitch as the result of an injury to his arm.

Otherwise Washington is healthy and happy. With these battle-scarred veterans, "Germany" Schaefer and Nick Altreck, working to fill up the holes.

Three weeks ago the team looked like a winner. Today it is a wreck and the jinx shows no intention of quitting. Just as it camped upon the trail of the Philadelphia Athletics, the team was the best bet for the National league gonfalon, so it has taken lodging with the Nationals this year, and even the pluckey fight of the resourceful Griffith sems unavailing.

BAUSEWINE NOW STRONG

CHARLOTTE, N. C., June 16.—Bausewine broke back into the league Saturday and by his superb pitching the Hornets made it three straight and a cleanup of the series with Durham. Saturday's score was 4 to 2, the Bulls escaping a shutout in the second, when Bausewine suffered his traditional bad inning. In this frame he walked J. Thompson and Ferris and both runners, after an advance to third and second, scored on Ferris' single. In all, Bausewine yielded four hits and walked three men.

Light Work for Crew

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 17.—Owing to the exceedingly warm weather the Harvard and Yale crews were given only the lightest work possible yesterday.

WASHINGTON'S HOSPITAL CREW OF STARS.

NOTES FROM THE EMPIRE

BY G. FORT ANDREWS.

From a financial point of view last week was the first bad week the Empire league has known. Over a month of the season passed before a game was postponed by rain and when it rained it really poured. Valdosta, Thomasville and Cordele were the at homers for the rains, but will make up before the week ends.

There is no getting around the fact that Otto Gordon, former Southern leaguer, has a pennant winner in his Valdosta team. His pitchers, Zellars, Winters, Gentle and Gentry, are all going good just now and last week's four straight wins gave Otto a stronger hold on first place.

Waycross has a little consolation in the defeats handed the team last week in Thomasville and Valdosta. While Valdosta was taking three straight from Waycross the league's seaport member, Brunswick, was dropping three to Americus.

Shamus O'Brien, recently of the Charleston, South Atlantic league, is in Waycross and will probably become a member of the Waycross team. Kulp, formerly of the Jacksonville team, is also here and may be signed.

Only fifteen more games are to be played in the Empire before the second half of the season opens. Cordele hopes to overcome the lead Valdosta has before the first of July and incidentally Waycross is going to climb from fourth place.

Whitey Morse, who several years ago starred in the South Atlantic and who was for a number of seasons one of Atlanta's reliables, is playing a consistent game at first for Valdosta and is batting over .300.

"Wild" Bill Clark, former manager for the Columbia, S. C., team of the South Atlantic, is making a splendid start in the Empire. He has lost but one game of five pitched and was entitled to the game he lost. For a few days he has been at home with a game foot, hurt in one of the tussels of last week between Waycross and Valdosta.

"Goat" Holliday, the Atlanta boy who plays first for Waycross, will be back in the game this week, after a short visit home. His playing around five has been sensational and is a decided feature of every game. Holliday's hitting is his only weak point, but every now and then he hits when a hit counts and has gotten a home run in Waycross, much to his surprise.

Baseball fans generally in Georgia did not think the state could stand another league, but the organizers of the Empire seem to have them a thing or two. Not only has the Empire made good with a rush, but all members are holding their own on the money question and have made plans thus far in advance for baseball next year. Attendance figures show that many Empire cities are supporting their teams better than cities in the South Atlantic league, which is a class higher and faster league.

Several interesting series of games are being talked about just now in the Empire. It is proposed to play a series with the pennant winner in the Georgia-Alabama league if the games can be arranged, this for the state championship. It is also probable that a series with the pennant winner of the South Atlantic will be played. Unless the same team in the Empire finishes first in the first and second halves of the season the pennant series of the league will furnish games worth going miles to witness.

The Americus team is probably one of the strongest in the league, but for some reason is just beginning to go right. The players as a rule hit well and field as good as could be desired. The pennant winner in the Empire is more than apt to have to contend with Americus.

Brunswick is making some changes and will not be sending the "same old story" home any longer if the dope is not way off at this stage of the game. The team is already getting new and strong players, and with the new life Brunswick won't lose often in future.

In Davenport Thomasville has a first baseman who will stay in this class baseball no longer than one season, provided he cares to continue in the profession. That fellow is a dandy and is dangerous with the bat, too.

Waycross does not now expect to come out first in the Empire's first half of the season, but the local association is banking strong on landing the rag in the last half, after which desperate efforts will be made to defeat the first half's winner for the season's rag.

HANOVER, N. H., June 17.—Captain Dave Morey, pitcher of the Dartmouth college baseball team, announced that he had signed a contract to play with the Philadelphia American league team. Morey will report July 1.

Again West Wins

ROME, GA., June 17.—A. S. West, who for the last two years has been holder of the cup of the Coosa Country club for the annual tennis tournament in men's singles, for a third time won the trophy, defeating Leon Porter.

Long Starred In First Win

Gilbert Price Hurled Ball He Is Capable Of—Timely Hit Did It

Tommy Long was in a celebrating mood Monday and put the Atlanta club in line for the first win of the series over Bill Schwartz's Nashville Vols. Tommy secured only a triple, double and single, swiped a couple of bags and scored three runs.

Southpaw Gilbert Rice had one of his good days. When right this boy is a wonder, but when wrong it is all off. Monday was just one of his good days and after the Crackers took the lead there was never a chance.

In Johnny Lindsay and Goalby the Vol crew certainly possess two crack infielders. When these two lads can't get 'em you can put it down that they are safe swats. Both are workers of ground and throw accurately and fast.

Joe Agler put in quite a busy day. Joe's knockdown of Dave Callahan's drive past first in the opening round cut off a sure three-sacker. Joe also rapped out a couple of timely swats besides coming through with two runs and a great catch of Bisland's throw of Perry's hit to short in the third.

In the seventh inning Price came through with a decidedly unique record. He fanned three batters, one batter went out from second to first and then there was a runner left on second when the side was retired. Callahan was the man to get on after fanning.

Tommy Long started the fideworks in the fourth. There were two down and three on the bags when Tommy pasted the ball over Daley's head for three sacks. A hit by Welchonce later scored Long.

Del Young made a neat catch of Bailey's long foul in the sixth. It was after a long run that the Vol outfielder got near enough to make the flying stab.

A squabble came up in the second inning when the Vol players claimed Chapman, who was coaching at third, stopped Wallace Smith. It is against the rules for a coacher to touch a man to keep him from trying for an extra base, though he is allowed to wave him on. Smith was rounding third on Agled's hit when it was claimed Chapman blocked him to keep him from being thrown out at the plate.

Nashville's runs were the direct result of Manager Schwartz's line drive down the right field foul line for three sacks. It scored *Perry and the man*ager later tallied on an infield tap.

HOW CLUBS PLAY TODAY

(By Associated Press.)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 17.—Birmingham will use Sloan on the twirling mound in the second game of the series with Chattanooga this afternoon. The mighty Covaleskie or Kroh will pinch for the visitors and the contest promises to be as exciting as the one of yesterday. Mayer and Street will do the catching. Weather clear.

MEMPHIS, June 17.—Newton and Seabaugh for the locals will oppose Evans or Wilson and Adams, of New Orleans, in the battery positions for the second game of the present series played here this afternoon.

The weather is clear and hot.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 17.—A doubleheader will be played by the Mobile and Montgomery baseball clubs this afternoon, the first game to be called at 2:15 o'clock. Manager Finn expects that Outfielder Jacobson, who has been out of the game seventeen days, will *join the Mobile squad to-*day, thereby enabling him to pinch Campbell in the first game and Robinson in the second. Smith will catch both games. Montgomery's battery for the first game will be Bagby and Donohue and for the second Manning and Gribbens.

Manager Finn was not bankering for a double header, on account of his crippled team. The weather is perfect.

Faster Speed When Racers Meet Tonight

First Night Motorcycle Meet of the Year Is On for Tuesday Night—Good Card of Races Is Booked

Night racing on motorcycles will be presented to the sport loving public of Atlanta for the first time in all history at the new motordrome at the show grounds. Already the sport has been given a trial in the afternoon and proved a tremendous hit. Lights are all in place and they will be switched on at 7 o'clock. The real racing will begin at 8:30, though there is a possibility that an amateur event, with two heats, may be put on to keep things lively until the professionals start.

Nine professional races will be offered tonight. They include four heats in the Georgia sweepstakes, four heats in the motordrome purse and a special match race between Harry Glenn, of Atlanta, and Georges Renel, of Paris, to settle the dead heat they rode Saturday afternoon.

Atlantians got only a hint of the possibilities of motordrome racing on Saturday. There was marvelous speed and fancy maneuvering up and down the banked sides of the arena. But this was tame by daylight, compared with what it is at night. Not only does night racing offer more excitement and more of the spectacular, but the giant arena, out in the cool night air, is a thoroughly comfortable place.

Those who saw the races Saturday the races tonight hold vast possibilities for excitement. For Jack McNeil, Scotland, on his imported P. A. J. motor and Tex Richards, of Dallas, on the famous "23" Indian, will get their opportunities to settle the speed argument started Saturday afternoon. McNeil won the Atlanta sweepstakes, but Richards was second only by inches and he was coming faster than McNeil at the finish.

In Saturday's races the speed attained, while enough to make the fastest locomotive blush with shame, did not quite touch the ninety miles an hour. It may be reached and even exceed tonight. Richard's motor is unquestionably one of the fastest ever built on this side of the world. It is declared by experts to be one of the greatest ever imported. Both riders are clever.

With the J. A. A. P. for a pacemaker and with Richards to keep him extended to the full limit there should be some tremendous speeds attained tonight. And of course there is no certainty that these men will have things their own way. On Saturday they proved to have the fastest motors. But since then the other riders have been tuning their machines over again. Henry Swartz, for instance, who had no luck at all Saturday, owing to the fact that he had just put in place two new wheels, has his Excelsior going nicely now and should be heard from. As a rider he ranks with the best at the track—with the best in the world, in fact. He is a cool-headed, desperate rider; who will risk his neck for a foot of advantage in a tight race.

Few Notes On Games

Baseball has become such a big part of America that they all fall for it. President Wilson told J. J. Callahan, of the White Sox, yesterday that he thoroughly approved of a world tour, for the White Sox and the Giants, and he would endeavor, through official channels, to have every courtesy extended the teams. The trip will include the Philippines, Japan, Australia, Egypt, France and Ireland.

Smoky Joe Wood won Boston's fourth straight from the Browns with a single in the twelfth.

The Dodgers had an uphill day of it yesterday. After St. Louis had a five-run lead they battled back to a 10 to 5 victory, winning on twenty hits.

The New York American club lost another yesterday, after it seemed that they had things sewed up.

The English polo team has started right to work for next year's match. A few of their mounts have been already shipped over, and only twenty-seven of the forty-two ponies will be carried back to England.

Tomer Thompson, the ex-Georgia catcher, is catching again for Columbus. They have been using Thompson for an outfielder, third baseman and catcher, and he seems to have filled the bill in all places.

Moses, of Macon, was hit safely twelve times in the game with Albany, but got away with a 6 to 2 victory.

Pinz Bodie stepped into the limelight yesterday with a four-sack punch garnered from Groom's delivery. Russell also drove on for the circuit.

Foster, Washington's star third baseman, was back in the game yesterday, after a long siege of typhoid fever.

Otto Jordan's fast fielding figured in the game between Americus and Valdosta yesterday.

Umpire Pfenninger "got in the game" yesterday when Street's grounder hit *him in the back, forcing Johnson to sec*ond. Graft took advantage of Dan's kindness and scored the winning run with a single.

There can be no doubt as to whether Long or Robertson is leading the Southern League in batting now.

OLD GLORY.

(The occasion being June 14th, the birthday of the flag.)

Around the signal fires and camp
A shadow trails the ground;
The war steeds paw the earth and champ
The bits which hold them bound;
The War God smiles as sabres clash—
A red glow lights the air;
But proudly o'er the crimson flash
The Stars and Stripes are there.

Peace comes—and fields that once ran red
With life blood now lie green;
No more above the stricken dead
The vulture haunts the scene;
No more the war drum thrills the hold—
No more the bugles blare,
But waving proudly as of old,
The Stars and Stripes are there.

With heart to heart—hand clasped in hand
The valiant Blues and Gray
From Vermont to the Rio Grande
Salute her folds today;
Where'er the southern sun has kissed,
Or northern gales may flare,
Outlined against the ocean's mist
The Stars and Stripes are there.

Swords of the Samurai may gleam
In the arms of new Japan;
The land of the Rising Sun may dream
Of a world swept by her clan;
The hosts of Nippon rush in blind—
Their banzais fill the air—
We wait—well knowing they will find
Old Glory waving there.

All deeds—man rought—must pass away
Ere history's course is run;
All creeds, man made, must eye decay
Before the tale is done;
But one heart emblem still remains,
Earth—relic of the past,
Across the sweep of endless plains
The Stars and Stripes will last.

Will last till the eternal hills
Have crumbled into dust;
Until the rivers and the rills
Are dry beneath their crust;
And when the final tale is spun,
Outlined against the blare
Of dying moon and fading sun
Old Glory will be there.

When the birthday of the Flag is mentioned that section which seems to show the loudest and most prolonged cheering is the camp of the Athletics. They are the people that first taught it how to fly.

THEN CAME THE EDICT.

After a recent decision against the Tigers, Mr. Jennings refrained from cursing Umpire Ferguson. In what C. Dryden would call "low, well modulated tones" he merely informed the aforesaid ump that Manager Stovall showed rare will power in only expectorating on his person.

Yes, there are a number of ways to say a number of things and make a number of given points.

As the situation now looms C. Mack will have from July 7 to October 9 to decide whether he will start C. Bender or E. Plank in that first combat for the championship of the civilized world, some parts of the subway and several state legislatures.

Chance has at least four good ball players on his club who were not in action when he took charge. Four in two months isn't so bad when quite one year is a big average.

They say T. R. Cobb is "dogging it." If he can "dog it" and bat .452 he should make a regular hit with his heart in the game, or at least show promise of arriving some day later on.

Having read where Heinie Schmidt tore things up at St. Andrews and the German tennis had conquered the French, no wonder Mr. Schultz, of the Yanks, took on renewed heart and won his first game by whiffing Cobb and Crawford in the pinches. There's nothing like precedent or tradition for paving the way.

PELS AND DOBBERS WAR OVER TRADE FOR PLAYERS

Whether First Baseman Kutina and Pitcher Bagby, of the Montgomery club, are to become members of the Pelicans in exchange for Miles Snedecor and $750 is a question that will probably be definitely decided by President Kavanaugh this week.

Manager Frank is trying to induce Mr. Kavanaugh to meet Jones and himself at Memphis to thresh out the controversy. Frank declares that if President Kavanaugh refuses to review the evidence in the Bluff City he will go to Little Rock to present his case.

"We're only asking for what belongs to us," said Manager Frank Saturday, "and as Jones' telegram shows we could accept the offer, but there was no chance of us declining had we done so. In my belief the telegram sent by Jones will be considered a contract by President Kavanaugh, for the Montgomery man has placed a time limit on his proposition."

As a result of Jones "welching" on his proposition there will be no further dealings between the Ned Orleans and Montgomery clubs. "We're done," said Frank, "and from now on there will be no friendship in baseball for me. We can fight as well as anybody else, and I believe the only way to succeed is to always demand the best of it regardless of the fact whom one may be dealing with."

Frank has arranged for a Memphis attorney, well versed in baseball rules, to help him present his case against the Montgomery club for Kutina and Bagby. It is expected that President Jones will also avail himself of a legal adviser, and judging from the opinion Frank holds at present, Judge Kavanaugh is going to have a merry little session when he tries to hear all of the arguments.

In a message to Manager Frank Friday night, President Kavanaugh declares the telegram received from the New Orleans club protesting against Jones "welching" on his proposition was the first intimation he had of the two clubs trading players. Mr. Kavanaugh says that until a sales agreement is filed he cannot direct Kutina or Bagby to report here.

It is because of this message that Manager Frank is trying to arrange for the Southern league head meet Jones and himself at Memphis, where the evidence can be submitted by both parties.—New Orleans Item.

Miss Brown Is Title Holder

PHILADELPHIA, June 17.—Miss Mary Browne, of Los Angeles, and W. T. Tilden, Jr., won the mixed doubles championship of the United States in the concluding match of the women's national lawn tennis tournament at the Philadelphia Cricket club, defeating Miss Dorothy Green and G. S. Rogers, 7-5, 7-5.

This is the third championship won by the Pacific coast player in the tournament. She retained the national title in the singles by defeating Miss Green, the challenger, on Saturday, and paired with Mrs. Robert Williams, metropolitan champion, also won the doubles title.

American Golfers in The Rarest of Form

NEW YORK, June 17.—American golfers who are preparing to compete in the British open golf championship, beginning Thursday at Heylak, have made an excellent showing on the one or two occasions that they have appeared since their arrial in England, according to reports just received here.

John J. McDermott, the national open titleholder, has been in especially good form, playing with Tom McNamara, the metropolitan open champion, as a partner, he was arrayed against S. H. Fry and Michael J. Brady in a four-ball match over the Mid-Surrey links. The American champion's work has brought forth considerable praise from the English critics.

Penn. Borrows Shell

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 17.—Coach Ward, of Pennsylvania, visited Coaches Rice, of Columbia, and Courtney, of Cornell, to ascertain whether either coach had an extra four-oared shell to lend him to replace the one wrecked in the collision with Wisconsin yesterday. Neither coach had an extra boat, but Boat Builder John Hoyle, of Cornell, fixed up the Wisconsin old four-oared shell, and Ward's crew will use that on race day.

The twelve crews of Cornell, Pennsylvania, Syracuse, Washington and Wisconsin met on the upper end of the Poughkeepsi

Ban Johnson Scouts

NEW YORK, June 17.—President Ban Johnson, of the American league, who was in this city Monday, said he would endeavor to procure one of Connie Mack's extra outfielders for the New York club. Mack has six outfielders, Dan Murphy, Eddie Murphy, Oldring, Strunk, Daley and Walsh. Mr. Johnson will endeavor to have Mack part with either Walsh or Daley.

A young semi-professional catcher, Mofft, joined the Highlanders today.

Dinner to English Team

NEW YORK, June 16.—A dinner was given tonight at the Meadowbrook Country club by August Belmont to the victorious American polo team and their English opponents in the recent international cup games. The speeches both by victor and vanquished were full of felicitations for the sportsmanlike manner in which the games were played.

Came From Behind

UNION POINT, Ga., June 17.—Union Point was again victorious by defeating the fast Penfield team Saturday by the score of 6 to 3. It was all Penfield's game until the seventh inning, when Union Point hit Maxey, the Gordon star, for four runs.

Union Point has won eleven and lost two games of the thirteen played this season.

Filipinos on Hand

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—An all-Filipino baseball squad arrived here yesterday on the liner Manchuria from Manila for a series of games which have been planned in this country. The Filipinos this season have defeated both the Waseda and Keio Japanese university nines. Fifteen full-blooded youths comprise the squad.

A TICKET TO LUCKY FAN

Los Angeles Wins Trophy

CHICAGO, June 17.—The Tom Morris memorial golf trophy for the second time was won by the Los Angeles Country club with a score of thirty-six holes down on par in the fifth annual competition played. The Los Angeles club won last year with a score of forty down on par. The Annadale Country club, of Pasadena, Cal., was second with thirty-nine. The Glen Echo Country club of St. Louis, was third with forty-six and the Memphis Country club was fourth with forty-seven.

The Oakmont Country club, winner in 1911, did not compete this year. A number of other clubs did not enter because of insufficient notice.

More than forty clubs competed. The memorial is a yearly feature in the Western Golf association in honor of the veteran Scotch golfer and is played on the anniversary of his birthday. Teams of eight players of the competing clubs play eighteen holes against par at match play. Previous winners are the Denver Country club in 1909, with a card of sixteen down on par, the best score ever turned in in the competition; Oakmont, in 1910, with forty-one down; Country Club of Cleveland, in 1911, with eighteen down; Los Angeles Country club, in 1912, with forty down.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Among the other scores reported were:

Dallas, Tex., Country club, 86.
Hutchinson, Kan., Country club, 92.
Douglas, Ariz., Country club, 107.
Nasaville Golf club, 71.
Birmingham Country club, 79.

Hoffman Holds Out

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 17.—It is said that Artie Hofman, of the Pittsburg National league club, will not go to the Kansas City club of the American association, to which club he has been assigned by Barney Dreyfuss, the local club owner. Hofman, it is said, will quit baseball. Last night he was preparing to return to his home in Akron, Ohio.

Large Entry List

ROME, GA., June 17.—There are 40 entries in the golf toudnament for the Nixon-Smith trophy of the Coosa country club. Play began Monday afternoon and will last until July 4. The tournament promises to be the most hotly contested and interesting ever played at the club. This is a handicap match, men to play 90 holes and ladies to play 45 holes.

Georgia Has Some Wonderful Cows

WHILE some other states may boast of cows with great records, and no doubt the cow that sold in New York last week for $10,000 produced 44 pounds in a week and gave 12 gallons of milk per day, Georgia has some cows herself; not quite up to this standard, but some that this state can well feel proud of that have been raised in the state. Furthermore, it should be convincing enough for people who are skeptical that this state can raise cows that will show a large percentage of profit and cost that can easily earn from the sale of milk $3.50 each per day. It is worth the trip for anyone who is interested in cattle to visit the model dairy farm of Mr. R. H. Northcutt at Marietta. He has undoubtedly the finest herd of Jerseys, taking number into consideration, that can be found in the south, and kept in the pink of condition in sanitary barns and treated the same as human beings would be treated. Mr. Northcutt has on official test now a Jersey cow, "Dorothy," which promises to break the record for milk and butter of any Jersey in the state of Georgia. The American Jersey Cattle club has one of its representatives on the farm now, and this cow today begins a weekly test for butter, and if she qualifies (and there is no doubt that she will), it will add at least $500 to her value. Three weeks ago this cow milked 325 pounds of milk, the following week 340 pounds and last week 331 1-4 pounds. The best day's record was 53 pounds. Fifty-three pounds of milk represents 6 1-2 gallons of weighed milk, and this milk was all weighed. During the three weeks this wonderful cow has milked 124 3-4 gallons of milk. If this milk had been sold at the average price of retail milk in Atlanta of this quality, it represents $62—a pretty good showing for one cow to earn in three weeks; and it shows the class of cattle that can be raised in Georgia and maintained here, if the right kind of blood is used, with proper handling and management. This is the class of cattle that would make the Georgia farmers and dairymen rich, and make the city people sit up and take notice and wish that they were dairymen, if we only had enough of this kind in the state. Figure what a large percentage of profit a cow of this kind can make per year, taking milk into consideration, and the value of her calf. The price of such a cow can hardly be estimated, and I am glad to know many different breeders in this state are striving to make such marks as this with their herds. Renewed life and interest has been put in the dairy business in this state in the past few years. Why should it not be, when we need the products so badly and continue every day to send thousands of dollars out of the state to the west for butter?

One cow like this is worth many herds that are handicapped by a great many dairymen, as she can show a larger percentage of profit at the end of the year than some entire herds that I know of. The scales and the Babcock test used every day in a herd of cows will convince a dairyman what he must do to make the percentage of profit he is entitled to. They are fast learning this all over the United States. The Southern Railway company is doing much to enlighten the dairy public of Georgia as to the possibilities in this state, and when we have more cows distributed over the state similar to the one that is now being officially tested at Mr. Northcutt's farm at Marietta, this state will eventually make a mark in the dairy history that every citizen of the state of Georgia should feel proud of. It is sure to come, and the sooner the better. With our present sister state, Florida, furnishing probably the highest price milk market in the country throughout the entire winter, and our large cities all over the state of Georgia begging for a high quality of milk every day and willing to pay 50 cents per gallon retail for clean, wholesome milk of high quality, the opportunities that are offered here for either young or old men to make a big profit out of the dairy business are such as are probably not presented in any other section of the country. Yours very truly,

Jacobs Pharmacy Co. Buys the Braselton Drug Co. Lease at Marietta and Forsyth Streets, Which It Will Occupy. West Peachtree Residence and Argard Avenue Sales. Building Comparison – Peachtree Road Developments

The Jacobs Pharmacy company has bought the business and the lease of the Braselton Drug Co. at Marietta and Forsyth streets, directly opposite the city hall, and will open its eleventh drug store in Atlanta there.

The lease embraces the store only. It has about three years to run and the consideration is $600 a month.

The property itself is owned by the DeGive estate, and the Braselton Drug Co. transferred its lease on the drug store.

REAL ESTATE SALES.

The Martin-Ozburn Realty Co. has sold for Dr. Thomas C. Hodge to Charles A. Smith, No. 765 West Peachtree street, for a consideration not named.

The property consists of a nine-room, two-story house on a lot 40x200.

Harris G. White has sold for H. W. Dillin to Mrs. Sarah L. Roberts a lot 50x150 on the south side of Argard avenue, 200 feet west of Copenhill avenue, for $850.

BUILDING VALUE.

The value of building permits thus far in June is $219,900 ahead of the corresponding period last year.

For 1913 to date the value is $565,291 less than that of the same period last year. The deficit for the year brought down considerably by the permit of $265,000 for the new produce headquarters on Central avenue.

This also contributed largely to the good showing for June, although the latter would still have been ahead of last year without it.

NEWS OF PEACHTREE ROAD.

With the leasing of the Brookhaven Country club property by the Capital City club, the widening and bitulithic paving of Peachtree road at Buckhead and the prospects of the construction of Oglethorpe university at Silver Lake in the near future, real estate business in taking on a decidedly brilliant aspect out Peachtree road.

The announcements of the brick business building which John G. Burkhardt will build at Peachtree and Roswell roads, as well as the store and garage which J. L. Ripley is planning at the same place, have already been made, and other business investments may be expected at the rate at which this neighborhood is building up. Some of the handsomest country residences in the vicinity of Atlanta are out this way already, among which are the new $20,000 Hentz home and the beautiful home of W. S. Witham.

An interesting sidelight on Peachtree road activity is the report of Mr. Bell, sales manager of the L. P. Botteneld agency, to the effect that about $23,000 worth of business in subdivision residence lots was done out of that office last week, and a big percentage of this total came from the Peachtree Heights subdivision at the junction of Peachtree road and Piedmont avenue.

PAINTER ANALYSIS LOST, CORONER ABBOTT THINKS

Report Mailed From Baltimore Saturday Hasn't Reached Jacksonville

(By Associated Press.)

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 17.—Coroner Abbott, at noon today, announced that evidently the package containing the report of Dr. Charles Glazer, the Baltimore chemist, on the chemical analysis of the vitals of the late E. O. Painter, the fertilizer man who fell from a ferry boat here on May 22 and was drowned in the St. Johns river, had been missent or lost. He received a telegram Saturday last that they had been forwarded from Baltimore to him in care of the Barnett National bank here.

The packet has not been received at the bank and the coroner has received no further advice as to its whereabouts. He has wired for further information. The insurance companie's agents here who carry $1,178,000 insurance on Painter's life, likewise are mystified by the non-appearance of the chemist's report. The family and former business associates of Mr. Painter insist that the coroner proceed with the inquest, he says. He refuses until the chemist's report is received.

DIVORCE ASKED NOW BY WIFE IN KIDNAPING CASE

Mrs. Julia Cleo Clarke Seeks Legal Separation–Has Regained Child

Mrs. Julia Cleo Clarke, who some months ago secured the indictment of her mother-in-law on a charge of kidnaping, on Tuesday entered suit against her husband, Augustus H. Clarke, who she said conspired with his mother. Mrs. Clarke asks for divorce, alimony and the custody of their children.

Mrs. Clarke, who has regained possession of the little baby, also charged Mrs. G. S. Clarke with kidnaping, states in her petition for divorce that she was married on April 30, 1909, and separated from her husband March 30, of this year.

She asks a divorce on statutory grounds. The petition was filed by Attorney C. A. Stokes.

The kidnaping charge against the mother-in-law still is pending and the defendant is at liberty under bond.

The husband, it will be remembered, left home several days after his mother left with little Augustus H. Clarke, 3d.

The mother-in-law returned to Atlanta with her little grandson after the indictment charging kidnaping was brought against her, but Clarke has remained away from the city and his wife's suit for divorce will be served by publication.

Besides the child who is alleged to have been kidnaped, the Clarkes have another infant son.

SOUTHERN HOTEL LEADER PAYS ATLANTA A VISIT

J. A. Newcomb Motoring Through State to Savannah. Says Conditions Are Good

J. A. Newcomb, of Augusta, Mrs. A. Newcomb, their son, J. A. Newcomb, Jr., and little daughter, Rosalind, arrived in Atlanta late Monday afternoon, and are the guests of Resident Manager H. N. Dutton, of the Piedmont hotel.

Mr. Newcomb motored from Augusta, where he operates the Albion hotel, and left at noon Tuesday for a short stay in Macon, where he formerly had charge of the Lanier. From there he will drive to Savannah, where he recently leased the New Savannah hotel. He reports the roads in excellent condition and declares he found Atlanta much cooler than the other cities in Georgia he has visited.

Always an optimist, Mr. Newcomb declared business conditions were good and improving.

ASKS $5,000 FOR HURTS IN AUTO-TROLLEY MIX-UP

Alleging that a trolley car was run negligently into her automobile, Mrs. Guy L. Bush has entered suit in the superior court for $5,000 damages, alleged to have been sustained in the accident on Edgewood avenue some time ago.

Mrs. Bush alleges that the windshield of the automobile in which she was riding was shattered and the glass hurled into her face, inflicting several severe gashes.

Despite a skilful skin-grafting operation, she alleges in the petition, her facial appearances ha been marred by long irregular scars. In addition to the gashes about her face, she charges that she received other permanent injuries. Robert H. Jones and Batchelor & Cheatham filed the suit.

A former suit in this same matter was withdrawn, stated one of the attorneys, Tuesday. This, said he, is the same matter in different form.

HOT WORDS PASSED BEFORE MINE PROBE

Senator Martine Does Not Mince Words When Talking to Rich Operators

(By Associated Press.)

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 17.—A controversy between C. C. Watts, of counsel for the operators, and Senator Martine enlivened today's session of the probe into the West Virginia Mine strike situation. Senator Martine was examining Dr. J. W. Ashby, physician for the Cabin Creek Consolidated Coal company, as to sanitary conditions in the strike zone. Dr. Ashby said sanitary conditions were as "good as they were anywhere else around mines." The senator contradicted the statement. When and the witness engaged in an argument Mr. Watts interfered.

"Mr. Chairman, I object to the senator," the shouted, browbeating and bulying this witness. He should not take advantage of his position as a senator of the United States."

Senator Martine shouted: "I am a senator of the United States and I am exercising my prerogatives as a senator. You gentlemen with your and power at your command should provide sanitary conditions to protect the lives of these miners."

"West Virginia," interrupted Watts, "does not need to go to the mosquito ridden swamps of New Jersey to learn sanitation."

Martine and Watts were arguing heatedly when Senator Kenyon interrupted, then reprimanded Mr. Watts.

Quinn Morton, who owns several mines on Cabin creek, was examined as to negotiations which preceded the strike. He said the fight finally settled down to a question of recognition of the union.

Saved from Suicide's Death Quite Against His Will; Aged 60

After eating a quantity of "rough on rats," B. D. Glymph, aged 60 years, a painter, refused to allow a physician to administer an antidote.

Two policemen were called to the residence, 139 Seaboard avenue, but they could not induce the would-be suicide to allow the physician to save him. Finally, however, the Grady hospital ambulance was called, and when the man reached the institution he was too weak to continue his fight against the doctors. The usual remedies were applied and it is stated that Glymph will live.

The aged man, who kept crying "Let me alone—I want to die," attributes his despondency to ill health.

Human System Poisons Itself

Otherwise Most of Us Would Live to Be Methuselahs.

Scientists say that almost every moment we are poisoning ourselves. Autotoxemia, they term it, or Self-Poisoning. Eliminate Autotoxemia, and we could live to be hundreds of years old. All food eaten leaves in the stomach some waste, unused particles. This waste ferments and generates uric acid, and when uric acid gets in the blood it poisons the system—self-poisoning. Constipation, indigestion, biliousness, dyspepsia, sick headache, languidness and a weakened physical condition all result from self-poisoning.

JACOBS' LIVER SALT flushes stomach and intestines, dissolves the uric acid which has accumulated and expels it with the fermenting waste.

Take JACOBS' LIVER SALT in the morning before breakfast. You will do a better day's work, and live longer.

JACOBS' LIVER SALT is better than calomel for constipation

MORE DETECTIVES ARE ASKED BY LANFORD

Chief Declares His Force Is Insufficient to Meet City's Demands

Chief of Detectives Lanford announced Tuesday morning that he will wage an active campaign for the appointment of six more men to his department to aid in the suppression of crime. He is going to recommend the addition of the sextet to Chief of Police Beavers and will ask the latter to bring his request officially before the police board.

"The city has outgrown the detective department," said Chief Lanford Tuesday morning. "The territory we are expected to cover is too great. At present I experience difficulty in answering all the calls upon me and in some instances I have been compelled to delay the investigation of important matters simply through lack of assistance."

Regarding the project Chief of Police Beavers said that Chief Lanford had not yet taken the matter up with him but that he thought the number of sleuths insufficient to handle the amount of business which now is transacted.

Detectives are supposed to investigate every burglary of any consequence as well as gather evidence in murders, cuttings and other acts of violence.

The growth of the city and the consequent increase in crime has made it impossible for the twenty-five men now alloted him to make thorough investigations of all offenses, according to Chief Lanford. In many instances, he said, offenders escaped through the fact that the sleuths are compelled to do more work than they can do well.

"When the calls first began to come in faster than we could conveniently handle them I concluded that there was a temporary wave of crime sweeping over the city," said the detective head. "I have now concluded, though, that the increased number of cases we will have to handle is permanent and that more men are necessary."

Chief Lanford also declared himself in favor of a squad of police women Tuesday morning. He warmly favored Chief Beavers' plan of feminine sleuths.

"I could use two in my department all the time," he said. "I believe that they could do work that men now find impossible and would greatly facilitate the solving of many problems. On the vice squad, I think they would be a help, too."

MRS. TALCOTT'S READING ENJOYED MONDAY EVENING

An audience that taxed the seating capacity of the First Christian church Monday evening heard Mrs. Janie R. Talcott in a delightful reading of Dr. Henry Van Dyke's masterpiece, "The Other Wise Man."

Mrs. Talcott's interpretation was the work of an artist and attested her thorough mastery of the subject. Mrs. Talcott's program was supported by Miss Carrie Porter in several vocal selections.

An informal farewell reception was given after the entertainment to Mr. and Mrs. Talcott. They leave Wednesday for their future home in Cleveland, Ohio, to the regret of hosts of Atlanta friends.

LAWN PARTY TUESDAY EVENING AT MARIST

A lawn party will be given Tuesday evening, starting at 8 o'clock, on the Marist college campus under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus.

Preparations for the occasion are complete. The campus will be lighted beautifully and a special band will furnish music. A large crowd is expected to attend.

Special invitations have been issued to several of the young members of the Sacred Heart parish, but all are invited.

GA. COMMERCE CHAMBER WILL BE DISCUSSED

Committee to Call Meeting of Trade Bodies of Georgia at Early Date

The first real move toward making formal plans for the proposed statewide chamber of commerce will come Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock when the committee headed by Chairman Charles J. Haden meets in the assembly hall of the chamber of commerce in the Empire building.

At that time Mr. Haden will present to the committee such plans as he has formulated for a successful consummation of the project. Since the matter first came up for consideration and its feasibility became manifest to those who made a careful study of the possibilities of such an organization, Mr. Haden has given the greater part of his time to its advancement.

The committee itself has been alive to the importance of the undertaking, and each member is working toward a definite accomplishment, one that will affect Atlanta no more than any other city, and will be the biggest thing for the state at large than ever has been attempted by the trade bodies of Georgia.

So much importance, in fact, was attached to the undertaking that the leaders purposely have gone slowly in their work, and are consequently in a better position to lay their lines of endeavor.

But the state must be heard from. Its views must be expressed and its wishes given consideration. For that reason the committee, among the most important things, will decide on a date to call a general meeting in Atlanta and at that time present the matter of organizing a statewide chamber of commerce. To this gathering will be invited representatives of every trade body in Georgia, and delegates from counties where no such organizations exist will be urged to attend.

It is probable that the meeting will be called some time in July.

NEGRO EDUCATORS WILL MEET HERE JUNE 18-20

The thirty-first annual session of the Georgia Association of Teachers in Colored Schools will assemble in Atlanta for a three-day meeting June 18 to 20, at the Atlanta Baptist college, and indications are that it will be largely attended.

Prominent educators of both races will be in attendance to offer their help, suggest and advise. Among those who will be present at the convention are State Superintendent of Schools M. L. Brittain, Prof. M. L. Duggan, state superintendent of rural schools, and Superintendent William M. Slaton, of the Atlanta public schools.

WOULD DIE TO GET VOTES, SAYS MILITANT

Miss Annie Kenney Makes Impassioned Plea in Court in Defence of Women

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, June 17.—An impassioned speech in defense of the outrages committed by militant suffragettes was delivered today in the central criminal court by Miss Annie Kenney, on trial for conspiracy.

Her address served to enliven the proceedings and her concluding words created a great impression.

"If I have got to die to get the vote," she said, "I will die willingly, whatever the verdict of the jury today."

Greater interest was taken in today's proceedings than in any previous stage of the trial. The court room was crowded. Women formed the majority of the audience, among them being Mrs. Winston Spencer Churchill, wife of the first lord of the admiralty, and Miss Violet Asquith, daughter of the premier.

Miss Kenny asserted that the action of the Ulster unionists and the speeches of cabinet ministers, who she said had asserted that the unfranchised were justified in rebelling to get their grievances remedied, furnished ample warrant for militancy.

"If further justification were necessary," she said, "the trickery and treachery of cabinet ministers supplied it. The present government has treated the aspirations of the women more abominably than any British government since 1867.

"As for myself, I belong to the working class. I joined the suffrage movement because of the cruel conditions under which women worked in the British isles.

"I am a rebel and a rebel I shall remain until women receive the vote. If, like Miss Davison, it should be necessary for me to sacrifice my life, then I shall gladly die."

CHAMBER COMMITTEE TO DISCUSS MILK SUPPLY

or the purpose of discussing the Atlanta milk supply, the "house of representatives" of the chamber of commerce will give an informal luncheon at the Piedmont hotel at 1 o'clock p. m. June 24, at which time the principal speakers will be Dr. S. A. Visanska, chairman of the committee on milk supply, and S. M. Hood, director in charge of the chamber of commerce division of health. Other members of the committee are Oscar Elsas, Ivan E. Allen, Beaumont Davison and Dr. Michael Hoke.

ARRESTED FOR BIGAMY, WADE DENIES CHARGES

Man From Unadilla, Ga., Held on Telegram From Home Town

H. G. Wade, who says he is foreman of a gang working on the new Healy building, is held at police station on a telegram from Chief of Police J. H. Pennington, of Unadilla, Ga., charging him with bigamy.

Wade was arrested Tuesday morning following the receipt of the wire by Assistant Chief Jett. The telegram gave his address as 459 East Fair street, where he was easily found.

At the police station Wade declared that he could not account for the charge against him, as the telegram gave no details.

Up until a week ago, says Wade, he was master mechanic for the King Oil & Lumber company, of Unadilla. He came to Atlanta on the 10th to work for the American Bridge company, he says, in its construction of the Healy building.

"I am thirty-one years old and married," declared Wade, "but I've only got one wife. She was Miss Fannie V. Lockaman, whom I married in Unadilla last fall. I can't account for this bigamy charge, unless some fellow workman had a grudge against me and decided to pay it off this way."

"A few years ago," Wade continued, "A man whom I knew to be already married was trying to elope with a girl in Augusta. I broke it up, and he got sore at me. I suppose this is his way of taking revenge on me, to tell a lie based on his own polygamous actions."

A dispatch from Unadilla says that Wade is wanted there because he married Miss Lockaman on May 18, when he already had a wife and children living in Columbus. It says further that he was "routed" from Unadilla a week ago because of this alleged former marriage. It says that he worked for only a few weeks in Unadilla and was little known there.

MRS. FLORENCE KAMPER DIED TUESDAY MORNING

Beloved Atlanta Woman Passed Away at Sanitarium After Short Illness

Mrs. Florence Elizabeth Kamper, wife of Charles J. Kamper, of the Kamper Grocery company, died at 10:15 o'clock Tuesday morning at a private sanitarium. She had been in ill health for some time, but it was only during the last two weeks that her condition became serious.

Mrs. Kamper had lived in Atlanta since her early girlhood, and was one of the most widely beloved women in the city. Her death brings grief to hundreds in Atlanta and elsewhere who had known her for years. Hers was a character that won friends wherever she went, friends who loved her much for her sweet and gentle nature.

Mrs. Kamper was forty-nine years of age. She was born in Baltimore, but spent her childhood in the town of Rome, Ga. She had been married for thirty-one years, nearly all of that time having been spent in Atlanta. She lived at 127 Peeples street, West End.

For many years Mrs. Kamper was a member of St. Luke's church, but at the time of her death belonged to the Church of the Incarnation. She was a devout church member and was devoted to her family.

Surviving her are her husband; her mother, Mrs. S. G. Henck, of Baltimore, Md.; one brother, Louis Meaking, of Fitzgerald, Ga.; three sons, C. J., Francis and Louis Kamper, and two daughters, Mrs. Frances Knauff and Miss Catherine Kamper.

The body of Mrs. Kamper has been removed to H. M. Patterson's chapel to await funeral arrangements. The services will probably be held on Thursday.

Thirteen Vets Lucky; Pensions Unspent

*Approximately $80,000 has been dis*bursed in pensions this year by the ordinary of Fulton county and now by some peculiar chance, all except thirteen of the 1913 pensions have been paid.

The thirteen people who are lucky enough to have still before them the spending of the state's reward for their valor in the 60's, are urged by Ordinary John R. Wilkinson to call at his office in the Thrower building.

The following are the pensioners who have not received their money for 1913:

Veterans' pensions: J. W. Freeman, J. A. Jackson, J. T. Whittle, Wm. M. Barton or widow, M. C. Gilbert or widow, J. K. Smith, Dr. J. S. Todd.

Widows' pensions: Elizabeth Martin, E. D. Gowen, Susan Little, S. A. Smith, T. C. Jackson, Martha Spurlin.
